BRIGGS SET TO TESTIFY FOR THREE MORE DAYS

Relationships between the privately-owned B.C. Electric and the publicly-owned B.C. Power Commission formed the major part of evidence given before the Shrum Royal Commission here Monday afternoon by H. Lee Briggs, former power commission manager.

The commission did not sit today, but will resume at 10 a.m. Wednesday in Empress Hotel.

So far Mr. Briggs has covered only five chapters of a 22-chapter brief and is expected to be on the stand until Friday.

He will be followed by H. H. Griffin, who resigned recently as a member of the power commission.

'SPORTS CAPITAL OF WORLD'

Mayor to Bid For 1963 Pan-Am Games

Mayor Percy Scurrah today said he will make a bid to have one of the world's major athletic events staged in Victoria.

"I'm going to write them and ask for their detailed requirements," he said after receiving an invitation to "tender" for selection of Victoria as the site of the 1963 Pan-American Games to be staged in Canada.

ALL GET CHANCE

All cities in Canada are being given an opportunity to vie for the honor. Invitations have been sent out by the Pan-American Games for Canada, a committee of the Olympic Games Association. Deadline for enquiries is Feb. 15.

The games will bring more than 2,000 athletes and coaches from all parts of North and South America for a 10-day meet in the city chosen as a site.

The winning city would become the sports capital of the world during the games, attracting an international gathering of spectators.

The impact of selection as a site would be as great as Vancouver's gain in being chosen as the site of the 1954 British Empire Games which brought it world-wide fame.

The Pan-American Games this year are being held in Chicago Aug. 27 to Sept. 7.

Mayor Scurfah said he will write immediately for specifications of the association's requirements and will consult with city officials and amateur sports officials to determine whether Victoria should present a brief outlining its advantages as a site.

Among the events held during the games are: track and field, gymnastics, swimming, polo, yachting, shooting, archery, riding, boxing, wrestling, fencing, baseball, soccer, basketball.

Istanbul Explosion Kills 30

ISTANBUL (AP) — Thirty persons were feared killed and 100 severely injured in a thunderous explosion this morning that shattered two crowded four-storey office buildings in old central Istanbul.

Three of the dead were passengers in a passing bus crushed by debris.

Another four died as they sat in a coffee shop across the narrow street from the blast.

Among the victims were passengers in a bus lumbering past the four-storey buildings when the blast went off. The rear half of the vehicle was crushed by falling debris.

Among the tenants in the buildings were the newspapers Istanbul Ekspres and Yeni Gazete.

One of the building owners said the explosion appeared to come from a warehouse in the rear in which chemicals and other inflammable goods were stored.

One of the two buildings was completely crumbled. The other, housing the newspapers, looked as if its back end had been sliced away.

The explosion occurred at the height of mid-morning traffic. Police cordoned off the area and diverted all traffic. Ninety minutes later victims still were being dug from the debris.

Prober Raps Big Mark-Up On B.C. Fruit

(See also Page 3)

Excessive and unreasonable mark-ups by some wholesalers and retailers handling fruit from British Columbia are strongly criticized in the report of a one-man royal commission investigating the British Columbia tree fruits industry.

In his report released Monday, Dr. Earl MacPhee said the mark-ups "are very difficult to believe, let alone accept as being reasonable."

"I have been shocked to discover the very high mark-ups being taken by retailers in some areas — small independents in Vancouver and some in Calgary and Winnipeg—in comparison with mark-ups being taken by some wholesalers and retailers elsewhere in western Canada," he said.

"Society can help here, and perhaps it is the only agency by which an unfair situation can be resolved. Our findings are being reported to the federal price spreads commission, but the solution to this problem lies in the hands of the retailers and the wholesalers concerned."

Coal Mine Erupts

FLOOD OF OFFERS FOR STATUE

Brigitte for His Birthday? She's In Right Suit Anyway

LONDON (Reuters)—Offers are pouring in from all over Britain for a life-size, near-nude plastic statue of Brigitte Bardot that a London movie theatre wants to sell.

Here are some of the people who want the statue of the French actress wearing only the lower part of a bikini:

A woman would like it as a 21st birthday present for her son;

The national guard sergeants' mess at Birmingham, who claim they can give it a "good home";

A Worcestershire woman who hopes to use it as a scarecrow;

Miss Marianne Hawkins of Birmingham who wants to present it to her fiance who "must be Brigitte's most ardent admirer";

A penniless artist near London who says his town is narrow-minded and he finds it "difficult to get nude models."

Everyone apparently wants the statute — except Brigitte herself. She has refused it because "it cheapens me."

NEW YORK (AP) — The mother of a kidnapped infant girl pleaded for the safe return of the baby today and offered to share the child with the abductor.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Bless, O Lord, the leaders of our nation. Give them wisdom to choose rightly among the frightening alternatives that face the world. Give them, we pray, courage to make the hard decisions, to choose the thing that is true rather than the thing that is smooth. In our day, O God, may honest leaders find honest support among honest citizens; in Jesus' name. Amen.

New Freight Hike Bid Launched by Railways

OTTAWA (CP) — The railways today moved to obtain another freight rate increase of an unspecified amount.

The last increase—17 per cent—went into effect Dec. 1 after a fight before the federal cabinet which refused an appeal against the increase entered by eight provinces. That boost was designed to cover the cost of a wage settlement with railway employees.

Today the railways served notice on the Board of Transport Commissioners that they would apply Jan. 12 for a date for hearings on their new application. The application was contained originally in one filed during September. At that time the railways asked for an increase to cover wage costs and also a later one of an indeterminate amount to cover general operating costs.

It is this second part which the railways now seek to have heard by the board.

They told the board today they will also ask it on Jan. 12 to set a date for them to advise the board the amounts of the proposed new increase.

The new application said it is estimated that the 1958 net rail income of the "yardstick" CPR will show a deficiency of more than $17,000,000 below the $51,000,000 permitted the company by the transport board. The estimate for 1959 was for a deficiency of more than $10,000,000.

The last rate increase of 17 per cent, amounting to some $60,000,000 a year, was upheld by the cabinet Nov. 26, thus averting a threatened Dec. 1 general rail strike.

U.S. Trade Talks Go 'Very Nicely'

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian and American cabinet ministers today completed another four hours of private talks and U.S. Treasury Secretary Robert Anderson said at the noon adjournment: "Things are moving very nicely."

The eight cabinet ministers —five from Canada and three from the U.S.—adjourned for a luncheon at the suburban Rockcliffe home of U.S. Ambassador Richard Wigglesworth.

Finance Minister Fleming, heading the economic talks, said that all points in a long agenda had been completed at the morning session, except for one item which would be discussed in the afternoon. A communique was to be issued late today.

As the first three-hour round of talks ended Monday night at midnight, Mr. Fleming emerged with a smile and told reporters progress was made, amicably, on both sides.

The ministers and some 24 advisers were participating in the fourth session of the joint Canada-U.S. committee on trade and economic affairs set up in 1953.

Mr. Fleming said initial discussions were of a general nature, dealing with the North American and world economic outlook. Conclusions reached were "heartening."

There have been reports that Canada expressed a wish that the U.S. would use its influence to heal the trade split between France and Britain, but Mr. Fleming maintained that discussions did not go specifically that far. Because of the private nature of discussions, he declined to spell out details.

There also were reports that Canada sought American views on the pursuit of world trade agreements in which both Russia and Communist China could participate, but here again there was no official indication of how far discussions went or what conclusions had been reached.

Today's sessions of the talks were to deal with American oil curbs and Canada's hopes to have them removed; American criticism of Canada's anti-dumping laws and Canadian criticism of the American anti-trust suit against American electronics manufacturers operating a patents pool in Canada.

West Promised Access to City

(From Times News Services)

WASHINGTON — High officials said today that Soviet deputy premier Anastas I. Mikoyan in his talks here appears to be backing down on Russia's Berlin demands.

Mikoyan, who met Monday with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and dined with congressional and business leaders, was reported to have assured officials that Russia was willing to promise, continued Allied access to the Communist-encircled city when the Russians turn over control of their sector and the supply lines to the East German Communists June 1.

Mikoyan was understood to have told high-level state department, business and congressional leaders Monday night:

1. Russia is determined to turn over administration of East Berlin to the East German Communist regime, regardless of U.S.-British-French denunciation of this plan.

2. Russia is not trying to throw the Allies out of West Berlin, even though Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, in his Nov. 27 note, suggested withdrawal of all Allied troops from the city.

NO WESTERN PLAN

3. Russia feels the time has come, 13 years after the end of the war, to give Berlin a new status.

4. The United States, Britain and France, in replying last week to Khrushchev's note, were remiss in not coming up with some counterproposal which might have provided the basis for negotiation.

5. The Soviet decision to hand East Berlin over to East Germany by May in no way implies a peace-or-war ultimatum; continued free access to Berlin, 110 miles inside East Germany, could be arranged, and a role may be found for the United Nations to play in guaranteeing this.

The 63-year-old Mikoyan, second in Kremlin power only to Khrushchev, laid these cards on the table in replying to questions at a dinner for him by Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America.

PICKETS SCREAM

Hovering outside were about 50 anti-Communist pickets, refugees from Iron Curtain countries. Sparked by former freedom fighters in Hungary's abortive 1956 revolt against Communism, they brandished placards, shook fists and screamed in cadence: "Mik-o-yan the mur-der-er!"

Mikoyan and his party paid no attention to the pickets. Neither did the 48 other guests.

Monday Mikoyan also conferred for 95 minutes with State Secretary Dulles at the state department, primarily about Berlin.

Johnston released quotations from Mikoyan's formal address to the diners. Mikoyan was quoted as saying:

"We think there should be more contacts at all levels — from the lowest to the highest. And in order not to spend years in trying to work out an agenda, it is best to meet without one. I think that is where we are heading . . ."

COMING TO OTTAWA?

Meanwhile in Ottawa both the external affairs department and the Soviet Embassy said today they could shed no light on reports that Mikoyan may make a "tourist" visit to Canada following his current United States tour.

U.S. WARMER

Winter Keeps Chill Grip On Canada

(From Times News Services)

Winter retained a chilling grip on Canada today. In some areas snow joined with bitter cold in the continuing onslaught.

The Yukon—where Dawson hit 59 degrees below zero and Snag 57 below — headed a parade of sub-zero temperatures which reached into every province except Newfoundland.

Fresh snow was in prospect today for northern Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, parts of Ontario and Quebec and the Maritimes.

NEW YORK—Winter's most severe cold wave numbed the eastern half of the United States today but some relief from the icy blasts appeared on the way from the Rockies to the mid-continent.

At the same time, stormy weather which pounded sections in the west diminished. Strong winds, rain and snow Monday swept through the Pacific states southward through the intermountain region to southern California.

The cold was blamed for at least 44 deaths in 14 states.

LONDON—Rain and milder weather thawed out the southern half of ice-bound Britain during the night, turning frozen snow on main roads into slush and causing some flooding.

Fog followed the end of the freeze-up along the south coast.

Natural Gas Kills Foreman

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (CP)—One man was killed and four injured today when struck down by natural gas during installation of an underground safety valve. All were city employees.

Dead is Walter N. Cowan, 39, gas crew foreman.

The men were installing a safety valve on a low-pressure gas line feeding houses in the southwest area of the city. There was no shut-off on the one-inch pipe and when the old valve was removed the men were struck by a force of gas.

Rocket Bingo on First Try As Soviet Shot Nears Orbit

(Times News Services)

MOSCOW—A top Soviet scientist said today the Russians successfully fired their moon rocket the first time they tried.

Prof. Anatoly Blagonravov, head of the technical sciences department of the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences, said the shot launched Friday was the first of its kind ever tried in Russia.

The Soviet cosmic rocket has practically entered orbit today as the solar system's first artificial planet.

The 1½-ton projectile is more than 500,000 miles from the earth and streaking on to start its circling of the sun, Vice-President Alexander Topchiev of the Soviet Academy of Sciences told reporters.

Topchiev said the rocket at the time of his 4 p.m. (5 a.m. PST) press conference was 497,097 miles from the earth and 310,686 miles beyond the moon, which it passed Sunday at a speed of more than 5,000 miles an hour.

Topchiev called the creation and launching of the rocket "a triumph of human genius which for the first time has succeeded in overcoming the force of terrestrial gravitation."

Blagonravov said the scientific results obtained from the experiment will be made available to international science as soon as they have been analyzed.

"There isn't a spot in the universe today which could not be reached by rocket," he said.

"This would of course require time," he said. "But the wait will not be long now."

LONDON—A leading British astrologer has taken a new year squint at the stars and predicts wedding bells in 1959 for Princess Margaret.

Likeliest date—according to the star reading by William Tucker—is Sept. 17.

Tucker is president of the Federation of British Astrologers.

Tucker did not name the man he thought the 28-year-old princess would marry. But he says he probably will be a Scorpio type—born between Oct. 23 and Nov. 21.

Peter Townsend, whom Margaret turned down in 1955, was born Nov. 12, 1914. Lord Plunkett, the peer currently linked by gossip writers with the princess, was born Sept. 8, 1923.

GELMHAUSEN, Germany—A letter from Jerusalem addressed to H. J. Chr. von Grimmelshausen has been returned to the sender. Von Grimmelshausen, who wrote a book about the thirty years' war, died Aug. 17, 1676—283 years ago—the post office noted on the envelope.

LONDON—The Queen's traditional Epiphany gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh were presented at a communion service today in the Chapel Royal, Saint James's Palace.

They were formally presented by two of the Queen's gentlemen ushers, Rear-Admiral Sir Arthur Bromley and Rear-Admiral Frederick Mack.

And in Vatican City, Pope John XXIII celebrated Mass in the Pauline Chapel today for several hundred persons, including about 200 children, in honor of the feast day of Epiphany.

Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani distributed candy and toys to the children in the Oratorio of St. Peter's Basilica.

MONTREAL — Marius Raymond, 28, a construction worker who lost his sight in a dynamite explosion April 5, has filed a superior court damage action for $305,000, $50,000 of the total as compensation for a broken marriage engagement.

The action contends Raymond's fiancee was unwilling to proceed with wedding plans after it was learned he had lost his sight. They were to have been married last month, he says.

LONDON — The coldest weather of the winter gripped Britain Monday, but at least one English thief was equipped to hole up until it gets warm again—he drove off with a truck loaded with $20,000 worth of electric blankets.

MENDOZA, Argentina—Argentine womanhood breathed a sigh of relief today. The Swift Kick Man is in jail.

The Swift Kick Man was Humberto Victor Hidalgo, 34, who was identified at the police station by a dozen of the young ladies he had annoyed.

Hidalgo operated by dropping a coin on the sidewalk. If a young lady stooped to pick it up, he would dash out of his hiding place, administer a swift kick and flee on his bicycle.

LIVE DAM-BUSTER BOMB SAFE AFTER 14 YEARS

LANGSCHIELD, Western Germany (Reuters) — A team of explosive experts today successfully pulled the teeth of a six-ton bomb that should have exploded more than 14 years ago in a British dam-busting raid.

The four men on the touchy job sounded the all-clear shortly after they started work defusing the "tallboy" bomb, uncovered a month ago at the foot of the Sorpe Dam when the dam's reservoir was drained.

Big Boost Seen In Welfare Bill

A substantial jump in social assistance requirements was forecast for 1959 by the provisional budget adopted by city council Monday.

The provisional budget is a pure bookkeeping formality required by the Municipal Act to empower council to spend money until it has set its official budget in the spring.

It set anticipated revenue at a record $8,523,900, largely due to increased assessment and government grants.

Total expenditures are estimated at $8,523,900 but aldermen were quick to point out that this figure could be "chopped and hacked" substantially when council fashions a realistic budget before the May 15 deadline.

But, although the provisional budget is an imperfect financial weathervane, it is unlikely that the social welfare requirements will be reduced substantially in the final budget.

But, although an imperfect indication of the shape the final budget will take in most spheres, council is unlikely to change drastically the $344,000 increase in the social welfare department requirements since the 1958 provisional budget.

Two major social welfare items account for the increase.

Assistance to the unemployed, mainly persons who have run out of unemployment insurance benefits, is set at a record $200,000 — compared with the original estimate of $21,500 in last year's provisional budget.

Actually, during early 1958, council authorized $60,000 for this account but wound up spending about $130,000.

General assistance to welfare cases also is expected to increase to $405,000. Last year's estimate was $274,590 although this also proved insufficient.

But ratepayers have a big consolation if the prediction is correct — the provincial government picks up 90 per cent of the social welfare tab.

Rule by Decree Set Up in Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — Cuba's provisional government announced today that it will dissolve congress and the criminal courts and rule by decree until free elections can be held.

The decision was taken at a meeting of Acting President Manuel Urrutia and his cabinet.

Acting speedily after his arrival in the capital Monday night, Urrutia:

1. Named Jose Miro Cardona, president of the Havana Bar Association, to be premier of his government;

2. Announced free elections will be held within 18 months to two years;

3. Summoned his new cabinet into a post-midnight meeting;

4. Rescinded the martial law proclamation and curfew extension decreed earlier by the provisional government's military chief for Havana province.

TALKS WITH CASTRO

Urrutia flew to Havana from Camaguey following a talk with Fidel Castro, leader of the uprising that ousted dictator Fulgencio Batista and put Urrutia in power.

Castra continued his victory procession toward Havana with 3,000 of his guerrilla warriors and new supporters from Batista's military forces. He is expected in Havana Wednesday.

Urrutia said the rebel chief prefers to remain outside the cabinet to observe developments.

Urrutia told reporters his government would demand the extradition of Batista from the Dominican Republic and other "war criminals" who fled the country.

He said supporters of the fallen Venezuelan dictator, Marcos Perez Jimenez, who took refugee here would be expelled.

Fishing Haul Record $51.5 M

(From CP Dispatches)

British Columbia fishermen earned more dollars for their efforts in 1958 than ever before, the federal fisheries department reported today.

Landed value of the year's catch was expected to reach $51,500,000, higher by almost $11,000,000 than the previous record of $40,748,000 for 1951.

"The largest sockeye catch in 50 years, coupled with fall herring catches that were the best in history, more than offset the losses from the strike that occurred in the herring fishery during the first part of the year," the department said.

Value of the salmon catch totalled $36,393,000, with sockeye taken mainly from the Fraser River accounting for $20,356,000.

Coho ranked second in importance with a value of $5,373,000 followed by spring salmon at $3,955,000, chums at $3,513,000, and pinks at $3,106,000.

Preliminary figures for herring placed the catch at 199,100 tons for the year with a value of $6,605,000.

Stop-Gap Budget In Esquimalt

A five-month provisional budget was approved by the new Esquimalt Council at its first meeting Monday night.

The move was made to allow council to spend money until a formal budget is submitted in April.

Under the Municipal Act budgets must run according to the calendar year January to January.

Municipal clerk J. W. Allan, said that a permanent budget could not be brought out in January since no firm estimates of school and other costs could be made until later in the year.

"We must have authority to spend money," he said, "until the formal budget is brought in, hence the temporary estimates."

Mr. Allan said that no figures on the five-month budget could be released since they were "meaningless" and a number of items were "doubled up".

The B.C. Electric and the B.C. Power Commission may have had a common purpose at one time but lately there has been no brotherly love between them, the Shrum Royal Commission learned Monday.

H. Lee Briggs, former general manager of the power commission, said everything was fine as long as the power commission looked after the high-cost, low-density load areas of B.C. and "held a financial umbrella over the company to enable it to avoid the costs of those thin load areas."

But when the commission began to aspire to some of B.C.'s large, low-cost power sources the "marriage" ended, Briggs said.

The Royal Commission, consisting of Dr. Gordon Shrum, chairman, commissioners William Anderson and John Dunsmuir, was set up by Premier W. A. C. Bennett to investigate Power Commission operations.

Taking the stand for the first time, Mr. Briggs said Monday:

1. An indication of where part of the trouble between the two utilities may lie "is the well-known fact that top B.C. Electric officials have red carpet treatment to the premier's office whenever they choose to go";

2. Power commissioners, on the other hand, whether from receiving rebuffs or for other reasons, have many times "been most reluctant or even afraid" to discuss matters or important business with him;

3. The three-year power development program of the Power Commission was a "construction collosus" which Power Commission chairman T. H. Crosby maintained could not be done;

4. The highly-publicized Strathcona development which ballooned from $19,000,000 to nearly $35,000,000 was planned in 1954, a year before he came to Victoria, "with no knowledge of which one of several widely different plans would be followed";

5. A "serious error" was made in October, 1950, when the Power Commission agreed to supply the BCE with power for its Victoria load at 5.1 mills per killowatt hour over a minimum 25-year-period, regardless of price level changes;

'Didn't Give a Damn'—Ingledow

7. BCE official Tom Ingledow said he "didn't give a damn what the Public Utilities Commission thought about his price" of 9 to 9½ mills for power the company offered to sell to the PC;

8. The BCE at first refused to wheel in power the Power Commission bought from Californian and Oregon and only relented after he (Briggs) made an 11th-hour phone call to BCE president A. E. "Dal" Grauer; and,

9. The average power user in Seattle pays an average of $6.57 per month for power bought cheaply by the city from the Bonneville Power Administration which gets its power from the Columbia River.

Briggs ran into heavy questioning by members of the Royal Commission on his "red-carpet treatment" statement and allegations that Power Commissioners were "afraid" to talk to the premier.

Dr. Shrum reminded him that Mr. Crosby said his dealings with the premier were always cordial. Mr. Briggs was asked if he wanted to contradict Mr. Crosby.

"No," he said. "But there's a difference between cordiality and being told what you cannot do." He said he took the latter as rebuff.

Two examples Mr. Briggs gave of rebuffs were the throwing of "cold water" by the premier on the proposed Homathko River development and the premier's rejection of the commission's bid to increase power rates by 12 per cent.

"I feel the examples (of rebuffs) don't compare with the severity of your statements," said Dr. Shrum.

Power commissioner H. H. Griffin asked Dr. Shrum to request the press to withhold Mr. Briggs' statement that power commissioners were afraid to talk to the premier "until further evidence is adduced."

Dr. Shrum declined to order the press to delete the statement, but said he would ask that it be withheld until Mr. Griffin and other commissioners have a chance to give evidence "on this matter."

Mr. Griffin was told his evidence would be heard Friday.

Four times before the Power Commision implemented its scheme to develop eight power sources on Vancouver Island, power was taken beyond the system's dependable capability, Mr. Briggs told the commission.

The development program was vital, he said, to overcome the 171 per cent over-reach of power demand.

Mr. Briggs claimed the wheeling charge (the amount charged by the BCE to bring power the PC bought from the U.S. from the border) was excessive at 1.2 mills. The power was wheeled 57 miles in all, 19 miles by submarine cable. The U.S. authorities charged the PC 0.25 mills over medium distances and 0.5 mills when power was carried more than 500 miles, Mr. Briggs said.

'Great Delight' Over Homathko

When the discrepancy in charges was pointed out to the BCE, the company said bringing power by 19 miles of submarine cable was equal, proportionately, to the cost of bringing it 500 miles, Mr. Briggs said.

"Did you accept that answer?" asked Dr. Shrum.

"In small part," said Mr. Briggs. "I felt 19 miles of submarine cable might be equal to 60 or 80 miles, perhaps even 100 miles of overhead line but not more."

Mr. Briggs said that Mr. Ingeldow seemed to take "great delight" in telling the Power Commission that the company was going to get power by building a thermal unit rather than take Homathko power offered by the PC, a decision which led the Power Commission to set aside plans for development of the Homathko.

"Was there no possibility that the Power Commission could go to any regulatory body to look into the hydro plan in the interests of the people instead of the thermal plant being advanced?" asked Dr. Shrum.

"I presume the Public Utilities Commission has some authority. The company would have to get a certificate (from the PUC)," said Mr. Briggs.

"If you felt strongly about this why didn't you go to the PUC or to the government and protest?" asked Dr. Shrum.

"Things like that were discussed with the commissioners. I feel they should be asked," said Mr. Briggs.

At this point Dr. Shrum told A. Bruce Robertson, counsel for the B.C. Power Corporation and its affiliated companies (including the B.C. Electric): "If the B.C. Electric wants to answer it can."

"We will have something to say," said Mr. Robertson. "Mr. Ingledow is away until next month."

Transaction's Details Revealed

Mr. Briggs also revealed for the first time details of a transaction in late 1956–early 1957 when the Power Commission, facing a water deficiency, borrowed 23,000,000 killowatt hours of power from the BCE.

After the Power Commission returned a small portion, Mr. Briggs said three possibilities for the return of the balance were sought by Mr. Ingledow. Since Power Commission reservoirs were low, Mr. Briggs said he advised against returning the power as outlined by Mr. Ingledow. The latter twice refused payment of 2.5 mills for the power and his conditions for its return were "most difficult," Mr. Briggs said.

Finally, the Power Commission had to buy firm, peak power from California-Oregon Power Company at 6¾ mills to repay the 17,000,000 kwh loan outstanding "in spite of the fact that it had been supplied by the company on an if, as and when basis, days, nights and weekends".

"One might observe," Mr. Briggs said, "that here is no question about this company being ably managed—whether it is managed in the interests of the public, or of the shareholders, is another matter."

In his opening evidence, Mr. Briggs traced the relationship between the Power Commission and the government based on the Power Act. He said controls and requirements of the government had worked no hardship on the Power Commission with the exception of the debt refunding scheme.

Mr. Briggs coined a new word, "multoply," to describe an electrical distribution utility which has two monopolies—the first gained when it gets permission to develop power, the second, an "absolute monopoly" for the distribution of it to homes, businesses and industries.

Once an electrical utility has undertaken the responsibility of supplying a given area, it has something it cannot let go, he said.

MACPHEE REPORT

Grants Urged For Orchards

Long term federal loans and outright grants by the province to rehabilitate full time tree fruit farming in the B.C. apple belt were major recommendations in a report Monday of Dean E. D. MacPhee, who has conducted a one-man royal commission enquiry into the industry.

His report, 810 pages, compiled from 33 public hearings, 55 private hearings and evidence of 359 witnesses in the past 22 months, calls for consolidation of farms and packinghouses. The health of the industry requires the small part-time farmer to make room for the man wishing to make tree fruit farming a full time occupation, he states.

His recommendations for federal 30-year loans and provincial annual grants to offset losses through a 1955 freeze, take in only the full time farmer. He says in order for a family to take a living from a fruit farm, a 10-acre spread is about minimum. Fifty per cent of the farmers involved have acreages less than that figure.

'DEEP TROUBLE'

"People on these small acreages have been receiving the smallest farm income of any farmers in B.C. and there is real distress as a result," said Dean MacPhee . . . the small farmers are in very deep trouble."

The measures of aid he recommends are directed to ". . . the man who wants to expand, consolidate debt, rehabilitate his orchards and commit all his future to fruit growing." He adds, "The little farmer, using it as a part-time occupation, can reasonably be expected to look after himself."

The report, which was made public by B.C. Agriculture Minister Newton Steacy, will now undergo study by cabinet, and consideration will be given to the recommendations. He said it was given an "excellent reception" by a delegation from B.C. Fruit Growers' Association, headed by president A. R. Garrish. A BCFTA convention in Vernon in June also will discuss the report at length.

Tree fruit annual production is $25,000,000 in B.C. and the industry's capital investment is over $100,000,000. B.C. provides a third of Canadian tree fruits, but only 1 per cent of the world production.

Here are other highlights of the report:

The cider market will continue to expand, but "nobody's going to make a fortune in cider."

7 STUDENTS DIE IN FIRE 'LIKE MATCHBOX'

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Fire killed seven student airmen and injured at least 13 others in a barracks dormitory today.

Winds up to 50 miles an hour fanned the flames through the one-storey barracks, which housed 45 air force men assigned to Syracuse University to study Russian.

The building "went up like a matchbox," said Peter Dowling, a survivor.

French Atom Sub Afloat In 2 Years

PARIS (Reuters)—France's first atomic submarine will be afloat within two years, according to Francis Perrin, French high commissioner for atomic energy. Perrin told the Academy of Sciences here Monday that the 4,000-ton submarine Q-244 being built at Cherbourg would have the same performance as the U.S. atomic submarines Nautilus and Sea Wolf.

Balloon Up Only 3 Days

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados (AP)—The balloon trip of four Britons trying to span the Atlantic lasted only three days, it was disclosed today. They spent 21 more days floating at sea in the balloon's gondola, constructed for double duty as a lifeboat.

The three men and a woman set off Dec. 12 from the Canary Islands, trying to float on the wind 3,000 miles to Barbados. They reached here Monday after a fisherman picked them up at sea.

They had travelled about 1,200 miles by air and more than 2,000 miles by sea.

They landed tired, hungry for fresh fruit and vegetables and thirsty for carbonated drinks. Their gondola was still well stocked with food and water.

They had to cut loose the balloon in a storm for fear of going to heights where they would lose control and the bag would expand and lose all its gas. This was after they had jettisoned a radio receiver and sleeping bags to lighten the balloon.

Taxes Going Up?

THE OTTAWA CORRESPONDENTS are forecasting an increase in federal taxes this year. It may well be necessary. For the Government cannot go on piling up a deficit of something over a billion dollars annually without grave consequences, already apparent.

If business improves this year as seems certain, the yield of existing tax rates will automatically increase, but it cannot increase sufficiently to bring the budget under reasonable control. The Government's gigantic commitments have gone too far for that.

It reckoned its deficit in the last budget at about $700 millions. This may turn out to be an accurate estimate according to the Government's bookkeeping methods but it is irrelevant to our real situation today.

The relevant fact—however the expenditures may be described in the ledger—is that the Government is spending in total something like $100 millions a month more than it collects. And these borrowings have driven down the price of Government bonds, raised interest rates and compelled the Government to inflate the currency.

As The Financial Post says, the money supply and the national debt are both 12 per cent larger now than they were when Mr. Diefenbaker took office—an alarming change in only 18 months.

The immediate inflation of money and the potential inflation, temporarily disguised by debt, cannot safely be allowed to continue much longer. Hence the Government is compelled, contrary to all its promises, to consider an increase in taxes when it had planned to reduce them by half a billion dollars a year.

It will be humiliating for the Government and painful for the taxpayers to face a tax increase but the alternative of huge borrowings, higher interest rates, higher prices and financial derangement is worse.

The parliamentary debates about to open in Ottawa will present these things in many confusing versions, all tinged with partisan politics. Actually they are quite simple.

The present Government promised and the people by a large majority approved a stupendous increase in expenditure and rejected a former Government which was unwilling to undertake such a policy. It was obvious to anyone who looked at the figures that this policy would involve higher taxes sooner or later, that the promise of tax reductions was mathematically absurd.

This would have been true to a lesser or greater degree even without a business recession and a fall in revenues. Now that revenues have fallen the deficit is far larger than the present Government foresaw and the consequent borrowings are the chief cause of monetary inflation.

What is chiefly needed under these conditions is a reduction in spending or at least an end to the recent increases. It seems unlikely, however, that the Government will economize and over a wide area increased spending is unavoidable since fixed costs—such as interest payments and social services—continue to grow.

So to have an increase in taxes may be unavoidable when the Government is no longer able to sell its bonds at a reasonable price to a reluctant investment market and dare not, or at any rate should not, resort to more printing-press money.

A Ridiculous Strike

NEW YORK NEWSPAPER presses are rolling again, after one of the most bizarre strikes in history.

The walkout was called by the Mail Deliverers' Union which rejected a publishers' offer of a $7-a-week wage boost over a two-year period. There are something like 5,000 men in the union. Of the 1,600 who voted, about 850 were in favor of a strike and 750 against.

Thus, by a margin of 100, the Deliverers (ironic term!) were able to tie up newspaper service for a city of 8,000,000 for 19 days.

Other unions refused to cross picket lines, but also refused to support the Deliverers financially. Some 15,000 newspaper employees were laid off, losing an estimated $4,000,000 in wages. Because the strike was called during the Christmas season, when advertising is heavy, an estimated $30,000,000 in revenue was lost to New York's nine dailies.

Radio and TV attempted to fill the void, but proved inadequate. Sales fell sharply. Funeral notices, births, meetings, court reports and all the other routine details of day-to-day living which newspapers cover went unannounced, causing considerable embarrassment, confusion, and even distress.

And what was the ultimate resolution of the strike? By a little shuffling of the original offer, the union got a raise of $3.55 the first year, $1.75 the second, an extra paid holiday and three days' paid sick leave—all of which adds up to approximately the same proposal as the publishers offered before Christmas.

Results: 15,000 families jobless over the holiday; $34,000,000 in revenue and wages down the drain; 8,000,000 subscribers deprived of news for three weeks. We trust the union bosses are proud of themselves.

No Vote for Swiss Miss

THE SWISS, WHOSE WILLIAM Tell knew how to cope with the apple better than Adam, are not falling for Eve's blandishments when it comes to politics.

In Switzerland for the last 1,000 years the lady and the ballot have been strangers. From current appearances they will remain that way for some time to come. The Swiss male thinks the Swiss female does very well without the vote. Oddly enough, and contrary to the earnest hopes and aspirations of the suffragettes, so do a lot of Swiss women.

In 1957 the Swiss Federal Council—the country's seven-man collegiate government — adopted a message to Parliament advocating votes for women in federal affairs and the right of women to be candidates.

That year the Council of States, the upper chamber, approved the plan by a narrow majority and the lower house, the National Council, gave the plan wider majority support last March.

But the scheme now must go to the whole electorate and the electorate is all-male.

Moreover the anti-votes for women faction has matched the suffragettes in campaigns on the issue, has, indeed, established a Special All-Women Antivote Committee with headquarters in the Roman Catholic centre of Lucerne. The Special committee argues that women are happy enough without the franchise and would rather be the power behind the vote than actual voters.

In a country considered as enlightened as Switzerland this appears an odd situation. But perhaps only on the surface.

Eventually the Swiss women will get the franchise. Then they will be in the happy position of people in Canada. The next step in political evolution, we presume, will be to recognize the vote for what it is worth—which is exactly nothing to more than half the people at municipal elections in Greater Victoria.

And Then, of Course . . .

WITH DISASTROUS DEFEATS in the first two of the "down-under" test matches, England's cricket representatives have come in for some scathing criticism at home. English newsmen travelling with the team on its Australian campaign have blamed late nights and too much attention to beach belles for their countrymen's poor showing.

The team has been charged with romancing while away from home; on the other hand the team captain has been criticized for not having his mind on the game because his fiancee is in the stands.

Perhaps all such causes play a part in the current cricket debacle. But there is one other possible reason which comes to mind. How about the Australian team, which is in there trying to beat the visitors?

Beware Pandora's Empty Box

THE harassed parents and grandparents of Canada will join fervently in the congratulations offered by the editors of Harper's Magazine to the American manufacturers of Wheat Chex, a breakfast food which is "guaranteed to contain no premiums, no whistles, missiles, rockets or ruckus ... no strings, rings or things attached." Surely the genius of the Wheat Chex makers should not go unrecognized. They have hit on the earth-shaking discovery that breakfast food is breakfast food and not a method of amusing the young. If this excellent precedent is followed by other manufacturers, two generations of parents and grandparents may be able to see their way at last through that avalanche of premiums, presents and paraphernalia which makes every modern house look like a toy store after cyclone and earthquake.

Hutchison

THE news of Wheat Chex, however, is not the only news of North American progress. Some time ago a New York genius invented a taxi cab which contains no radio. It is said, though I haven't been able to track it down, that a building contractor of far-ranging imagination, I think in Sarnia, has actually devised a new bungalow which is not wired for television. Science marches on.

The possibilities of the new age are practically unlimited. Next thing you know, some daring designer in Detroit will devise an automobile without an extra ton of useless metal protruding in all directions for the sole purpose of colliding with lamp posts and increasing repair bills.

One can visualize, at first dimly, the car of the future stripped of its hideous fishtail fenders, a car instead of a landlocked marine creature, actually small enough to be parked on a city street and perhaps not containing quite enough power to run a sawmill.

COMES the revolution, in an even more vital department of life, and you may be able to buy a carrot or a prune instead of a glittering gem wrapped and bedizened like the Crown jewels of England.

It will take a lot more research, no doubt, and laborious agricultural experiment, but we may yet see a cauliflower which is a vegetable and not a work of art, a cabbage intended for eating and not ornamentation, a bunch of radishes fashioned as a humble item of diet and not as an exhibit of Canadian art, a turnip which will be horticultural instead of cultural.

BUT these improvements must come slowly lest too sudden a change upset the primitive public eye, stomach and mind.

The public eye has been so conditioned to crude embellishment (as savages wear feathers and tattoo their bodies) that a carrot, a car or a breakfast food in its natural state would be too great a shock.

We are not strong or civilized enough yet to look a cauliflower or a piece of machinery in the face. A cabbage in the nude would shock the respectable housewife who never blushes at a human nude in an art gallery. An automobile designed simply for transportation and within the financial means of the ordinary citizen would be too much for his nerves at first sight. A breakfast food without a toy space ship or miniature atomic cannon in the box would disrupt the average household.

For the same reasons of caution I would be opposed to the premature introduction of bread into the nation's diet after a generation of substitutes, and would warn the pork industry not to produce real ham which the uneducated public stomach could hardly tolerate without a systematic course of training.

These dangers are not imminent. The imminent danger is the drastic innovation of Wheat Chex minus whistles, missiles, rockets or ruckus, with no strings, rings or things attached. A new American Revolution of the young may well ensue when they find only food on their morning plates.

CONCERNING which Dr. Brock Chisholm has lately issued another of his dire warnings. He says children should be taught that parents are not always good and right but sometimes bad and wrong.

Now, I happen to consider Dr. Chisholm a great man but in this case I think he is unnecessarily worried, as he used to be about Santa Claus. The children of my acquaintance have just the opposite idea. Born skeptics, they find it difficult to believe that parents are ever right. And if there are no premiums in the box that opinion will be finally confirmed.

It's unlikely, though. Born cowards and conformists, parents won't buy breakfast food without whistles, missiles and rockets, or cars without stylish and monstrous swellings.

As Our Readers See It

Chest Critic

Neither in Victoria nor in Vancouver did the Community Chests reach their objectives.

It has been proposed to get a professional collector—a sort of high pressure salesman—to manage the collection in Victoria next year. That will mean added expenses.

The reason for the public's failure to give what was expected of it, is probably due to many people preferring to give to charities that they know rather than to unknown ones. Probably not 80 per cent, nor even 90 per cent know who the beneficiaries are, and in what proportions, for whom funds are solicited.

The list of beneficiaries, with percentages received, should be published and made generally known to the public. The whole matter of what organizations are to benefit, and in what proportions, should be revised and brought in keeping with the ideas of the community. Perhaps there will then be more interest in the fund and a better response to the appeal.

Vital Industries

I wonder if any of your readers have noticed that the moment any international crisis, which might lead to a global war, takes place there is a simultaneous outbreak of strikes in some of the industries which would be vital to the safety and security of the member nations of the Commonwealth.

Metal production, transportation, communications and the like would all contribute to our safety and security in the event of a major conflict and our very survival could well depend upon their operation and yet the very moment that war clouds appear on the horizon crippling strikes and demoralization take place in these very industries.

It is not supposed for one instant that the rank and file of the workers in these industries would lend themselves to anything that would destroy their country in time of war but is it not possible that the real object of these strikes in the vital industries may be so carefully disguised and engineered by the master minds as to be unrecognizable by the ordinary worker.

The FBI has long ago shown that the vital industries have been infiltrated by carefully trained saboteurs whose object is to inflame the minds of the workers so that in the event of war the vital industries of the country would be in a complete state of disruption and disorganization.

The slogan of these people is "Divide and Conquer."

THINK IT OVER

The Need Continues

We, the committee of the Surplus Food Stall, wish to sincerely thank all citizens of Greater Victoria who have contributed so generously during 1958. We were enabled to hold a successful stall once each month during the year and provided hampers for 200 families, reaching a peak of 285 families for the December stall.

The donations of food have helped tremendously and the generous contributions of money have made it possible to buy meat, margarine and vegetables when needed, also candy, oranges, chicken, and roasts for Christmas time.

The outlook for 1959 is grim from the point of view of the number of family units needing assistance. However we have complete faith in the generosity of the people of Greater Victoria and know that we will be able to continue to supply hampers once a month to those whom the Family Welfare send to us.

"I DIDN'T MIND HIM CUTTING HIMSELF A THIRD SLICE OF CAKE, BUT WHEN HE ACCUSED ME OF WATERING THE COCOA..."

From Our Files

Jan. 6, 1899 — Berlin: The health of the German Kaiser, Emperor Wilhelm, who has been suffering from influenza for some days past, is now satisfactory.

Jan. 6, 1919 — Oyster Bay, N.Y.: Col. Theodore Roosevelt died in his sleep early today in this village. The former president had been suffering a respiratory infection.

Jan. 6, 1939 — London: Prime Minister Chamberlain was reported today to have told the cabinet he would ask Premier Mussolini to withdraw Italian troops from Spain to improve French-Italian relations.

Meaning of 'Convertible'

LONDON: From this week the pound sterling, the French franc, German mark, and most other European currencies are convertible into dollars at the official rates of exchange.

In the case of the franc the exchange rate has been altered by the devaluation announced on Saturday. But the right to convert European currencies into dollars will be limited. Sterling can only be freely exchanged throughout the world by holders who are not residents of the United Kingdom or of the sterling area. Similar provisions have been made by the other countries concerned.

The division between "official" and "transferable" sterling is abolished. From now on there is only one exchange rate for the pound, and all sterling holders outside the sterling area will be able to exchange pounds freely into any other currency just as holders of "American accounts" have been able to do until last week.

The important "free" markets for transferable sterling in Zurich and New York will inevitably move to London because there is no longer the attraction of getting sterling one or two pennies in the pound cheaper in the free market.

Gold Sales

Gold sales, too, will probably move largely to London. Sellers of gold, including the Soviet Government which has been disposing of substantial tonnages again this year, no longer get a premium by selling in Zurich.

The greatly increased business of the foreign exchange market and, to a smaller extent, the bullion market in the City of London will be one of the direct gains from the currency change.

The Treasury, in announcing the new policy on Saturday, emphasized that exchange control would be retained, and that there would be no immediate change of policy for residents of this country or the rest of the sterling area.

The Government will, however, continue the policy announced at the Montreal Commonwealth conference of relaxing restrictions.

This is likely to apply especially to import controls; now that sterling earned by any foreign exporter can be freely changed into dollars the logical reason for distinguishing between imports from the dollar area and from elsewhere has disappeared. The Government merely wants to proceed step by step in order to avoid any sudden increase in total imports.

This is a concerted European move. One gathers that the British Government first intended to take this step towards sterling convertibility soon after the New Delhi conference in October, when the Chancellor stated that this was Britain's objective.

Action Delayed

Action was put off in view of the delicate European negotiations that were then taking place. But at the O.E.E.C. meeting on December 15 the French Government suggested to the British representatives that it might be convenient to act together at Christmas.

The Germans, who had long been ready to join such a move, were at once brought in, and the other European countries were invited to join. It was realized that a joint move, besides being a demonstration of underlying European solidarity at a moment of friction, would also lessen the risks for individual currencies.

As agreed in August, 1955, the European Payments Union had to be terminated as soon as the main European currencies were made convertible. By Saturday evening nine governments representing 84 per cent of the E.P.U. quotas, had notified M. Rene Sergent, the secretary-general of O.E.E.C., that this was their intention. He thereupon brought the E.P.U. to an end and put the European Monetary agreement into effect. The change is binding on all seventeen member countries of O.E.E.C.

The main differences between E.P.U. and the new E.M.A. are that the former provided for unlimited temporary finance and for "automatic" credit for countries in deficit.

Monthly settlements had to be made as to 75 per cent in gold or dollars; the balance of 25 per cent was chalked up against a country's credit facilities.

Full Settlement

In fact most countries have been nearing the end of the credit limits and would have had to start soon settling 100 per cent in gold or dollars.

Under the new agreement most of the settlements between central banks will be done through the foreign exchange markets, because it has been made more advantageous to do so. Only small amounts are likely to be settled monthly through the settlement machinery.

A European fund of $600,000,000 will be formed as a source of credit for member countries in temporary difficulties. But such credit will be "discretionary," not automatic; it will no doubt be linked with advice or conditions as to financial policy.

The Treasury has explained that the E.P.U. could not continue once the rates for the major European currencies had been unified.

It is the government's considered view that the new regime will not expose sterling to any additional strain, even in any future period of pressure on the pound.

TIED UP

Human beings are strangely telepathic when it comes to matters of dress, I recall how my old friend, the late Constant Lambert, the musician, was one night conducting at Covent Garden, and during the interval he hurried out for refreshment. Just as he was sipping his glass of gin, a little man came up to him. "You are Constant Lambert," he said. "What makes you think that?" said Lambert. "Oh, I know," said the little man, "because you always wear a white tie." "You will notice," said Lambert, "that I am not wearing a white tie." "So I observed," said the little man.

ON THE TIMES By ART STOTT

'S No Fun

AS the accepted greybeard of the office I should start this column with "Back in nineteen and sixteen . . ." Then I should detail the joys of sleigh riding down St. Charles hill, and mention specifically the Rithet cutter.

After that I should refer to the coal famine that accompanied "The Big Snow," touch wistfully on the trek of a small boy behind the fuel sleds to pick up odd lumps that fell off during delivery and quote a little Whittier: "All night long the storm roared on and morning dawned without a sun."

Stott

All that would be in character. Today I'm not feeling characteristic. This is the first morning back at the office after a week's vacation. Right now I'd like to say that the last few days of December and the first few of January are a poor time for summer holidays. And when they wind up with this white stuff around I'm seized with the spirit of the late Yussel the Muscle Jacobs, "Better I shoulda stood in bed."

A great Canadian writer, whose friendship I cherish, has occasionally declared snow to be the one true fact of Canada, the reason it is Canada and the decisive ingredient of the Canadian character.

The same great Canadian writer has also, on occasion, pointed out that fact is no substitute for myth, that fancy is the stronger and more moving force. With the latter I'd like to agree. The sooner we get back to the myth of South Vancouver Island's banana belt, the better I'll like it.

Snow is fine on Christmas cards. It's acceptable on January calendars. When it arrives in reality, the pioneer in me shrinks. If this is the one dominant fact of Canada, let's revive that secession movement.

A friend of mine and his wife, with remarkable prescience, had arranged to sail for Los Angeles today aboard a passenger-freighter. Were I the Canadian I should be, I'd express my sympathy for him. He'll miss the tonic which is snow-filtered air, the bracing sharpness of January as it is known in the north. For a few days I fancy he'll be confined to the inside of the ship. Deck-pacing or shuffleboard is unseasonal when the flakes are coming down into a grey sea.

There he'll be, cooped up in his cabin or treading the heated public rooms of the vessel, a free spirit entrapped. He'll have little to do but loaf, stretch out on his bunk, eat, play cards, engage in stimulating conversation with fellow travelers and make plans for his sojourn in the south.

It's rough. Somehow, though, I think he'll manage. He has the fibre for the ordeal.

★ ★ ★

Part of my spirit joins him, to give me strength. Another part shares with a younger friend, the rigors of Honolulu at this season. I think the younger friend also will bear up under the heat of the day.

And I'll be mildly interested in knowing why a still younger friend traveled around the world with stops at all the sunny spots, and came home to this. Perhaps he'll explain his decision on Friday.

Let it be understood of course, that people of my generation have not always felt as I and a lot of others do now about snow. In our youth snow was much better and snowtime more enjoyable.

Once we heard the tinkle of sleigh bells. Now we hear the clank of tire chains smacking fenders. Once we coasted down the slope of Peacock Plain atop Gonzales. Now it's covered with fences and houses—very nice homes, mind you, but something of an impediment to coasting.

And the snow used to be fluffier, drier. Now it's nasty stuff that comes above the shoe tops. Once romping in it filled my cheeks with the rosy bloom of health. Now, in its doubtless improved form, it leaves me with a deathly pallor.

As I see it, Kate Smith sang it accurately; "Snow time ain't no time." Let's leave it there, or ask the party which sent it to take it back.

YOUR HEALTH By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Stomach Ulcers

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic
and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

Many persons ask, "What is the cause of a stomach or duodenal or peptic ulcer?" and I cannot give a perfect answer. All I know is that there is a strong hereditary tendency. There certainly seems to be an ulcer temperament, and ulcers run in some families. I remember a man and his wife who came to see me at the Mayo Clinic. Both had an ulcer. When I saw their two boys of 11 and 13, I wondered what chance they had of getting their parents' disease. As I was thinking of this, the telephone rang and Dr. Roger Kennedy, of the Children's Department, said, "You know I have just been examining the two boys of that couple you are taking care of; you will be interested to know that each of them already has an ulcer!"

Alvarez

Often one finds that when a patient has a flare-up of his ulcer—perhaps after a year or two of comfort—the attack came because he ran into some distressing happening in his business, or in his home. I will never forget the first man who taught me this in 1913. He was an assistant professor of engineering in a a university, who, for years, had just existed on a small salary. Then he invented a piece of machinery which promised to make him a wealthy man. A big company licensed the machine and started to pay him good royalties. Then, one day, he got a message saying that his machine had developed a "bug" and would have to be thrown out. With this, the man's old quiescent ulcer flared up, and he had a hemorrhage. While in bed, he re-designed his machine, and again it worked; again, money flowed in. Again, the machine broke down, and again my patient had a hemorrhage. Six times that machine broke down, and each time, as my friend faced [illegible], he had a bad flare-up of his ulcer.

Because of such observations made many, many times during the last 50 years, I have gotten to the point where now, when I have to treat a man with an ulcer, I am concerned with one thing, and that is, can I get him so to modify his life that he will not be constantly running into crises? Yes; diet will often help, and the essential of the diet is to take food every two hours during the day and part of the night. This will usually give considerable relief. I think most of the etching-out of the floor of an ulcer produced by the acid juice of the stomach, is done between the hours of 10 p.m., and perhaps 2 a.m., when the cavity is empty. In the case of a normal man or woman, the flow of gastric juice shuts off after dinner has been digested, and the stomach has emptied itself; but in patients with ulcer, the acid keeps on being secreted, probably because of nervous stimuli coming from a brain that has not quieted down.

This is why I always beg my patients to be sure to take a glass of milk when they retire, and to leave a glass of milk beside their bed. If they tend to wake at 1 o'clock or so, with great pain, I ask them to wake themselves at midnight with an alarm clock so as to take the milk. I want them to neutralize the acid before it has dug the ulcer deeper.

The greatest danger to a patient whose ulcer is apparently healed comes when he runs into some great distress. I often tell a patient that when a great worry has come he shouldn't wait for the ulcer to flare-up and cause a hemorrhage or a perforation; he should start immediately to take his milk every two hours, and then he must keep it up for most of the night.

To show what I mean, one day a big handsome man came in with the story that recently he had had a big hemorrhage because of the flare-up of an ulcer that had been quiet for years. When I asked him what terrible thing had happened to him the day before, tears came to his eyes, and he said, "Doctor; just think; that day I discovered, after having the books audited, that my partner, who had been my buddy in the First World War, and later my brother-in-law, had for years, been stealing large sums from me. I didn't sleep much that night; I was all shot to pieces nervously; and next day, up came the blood." If I had seen that man the day before, I would have had him start right away taking milk every hour or two. This would have served to neutralize the acid in his stomach, and it might well have saved him from tearing open his old ulcer scar.

How about surgery? In cases of duodenal ulcer, I never have the patient operated on unless it becomes clear that even with a simple life he has severe pain every night—pain which keeps him awake and pulls him down. I always have an operation performed if I feel satisfied that the ulcer has perforated posteriorily to produce a sort of abscess. In cases of ulcer of the stomach, not duodenum, I generally have an operation performed right away, because I cannot be sure that the patient hasn't already a cancerous ulcer. I do not like operations for a duodenal ulcer because, too often, the patient later gets another ulcer, which sometimes is more painful and more dangerous than the one he had to begin with. I practically never order an operation for ulcer on a woman because I cannot remember a woman who did really well after such a procedure. Because of some sad experiences, I dread the operation of vagotomy (cutting the big nerves to the stomach). I think it significant that none of the scores of physicians I know who have a duodenal ulcer have ever let themselves be operated on for this trouble!

SYNOPSIS—The rather fast approach of Monday night's storm from the Gulf of Alaska brought an extra surge of Pacific air to push temperatures on the southern coast slightly above freezing. This resulted in generous rainfall instead of snow on southern Vancouver Island and in the Vancouver area. Freezing rain in the lower Fraser Valley ended early this morning as the temperature rose sharply above freezing. The storm is now moving inland to bring snow today to most interior points. Although by comparison temperatures are tending to be much milder than those of the past few days, the air now coming from the Pacific is still much cooler than normal and is also quite moist. This will result in frequent snowshowers on the northern coast and rainshowers on the southern coast occasionally mixed with snow at higher elevations. Snowflurries will decrease considerably over the interior Wednesday.

'Better Saanich' Program Urged

Reeve Proposes New Financing For Roads, Parks and Services

Reeve George Chatterton Monday called upon Saanich council to approve this year a comprehensive plan and program for the development of the municipality on a sound economic basis.

In an inaugural address to council, the reeve proposed a program for improving roads and services for residential and commercial developments and the creation of parks in the rapidly expanding municipality.

Highlights of his address included:

A suggestion that council set aside one mill (about $5[illegible]) a year towards a fund for acquiring land and property for parks and recreation as the need arose in the municipality.

The setting up of a 5-year capital budget for a long-term drainage and road building program.

Adoption of the capital region plan to be submitted to council in the near future.

Adoption of a detailed town planning program to save the public works department unnecessary loss of time and expenditures.

Consideration of an $8,000,000 government-financed housing development in the vicinity of the Gordon Head Camp.

Increasing the water rates slightly with a view to expediting the replacement of two-inch mains.

Planning for New Municipal Hall

Concentrate on improving substantial and permanent roads so as to reduce cost of maintenance.

The reeve also said council should purchase land this year for a site for a new municipal hall with a view to building it in five years time.

He said $50,000 a year should be set aside towards the cost of a municipal hall.

"Our planning staff should also be expanded to include an assistant planner and draughtsman," he said.

"We should also consider the possibility of constructing a joint fire hall and police station," he added. "This would extend the life of the present space in the new wing of the municipal hall."

The reeve advocated the sale of the Douglas Street municipal yard for development of a new yard.

He asked council to approve developments in certain zones, creating solid urban belts. This by-law is scheduled to come up before council within a month.

Council should consider submitting the Gordon Head-Cadboro Bay sewer by-law to ratepayers this year, he said.

"We should also do all we can to avoid increasing our debenture debt," he added.

Go-Ahead Given School Project

Saanich Council Monday decided to go ahead with the rezoning of several inside lots at Arbutus and Telegraph Roads to permit construction of a pre-primary school despite protests from nearby residents.

The rezoning application, made by Mrs. J. C. Emery of South Burnaby, is opposed by residents headed by lawyer Gerald Lauder.

They claim a school would devaluate their properties and aggravate the sewage drainage problem in the area. They also agree the school is a commercial enterprise in a residential area.

Council gave third reading to the bylaw and will finally approve it on Jan. 19.

Council's decision followed a report by Frank Heaton, Saanich welfare administrator, that the Cadboro Bay area needed such a school.

"The school will definitely be an asset to this community," he said. "We have had numerous requests for a school of this sort."

In view of protests from residents, Reeve George Chatterton said, he offered Mrs. Emery alternative sites for her school.

He said she turned down the offers.

PROMISE BY NEW OAK BAY REEVE

No 'Undue' Tax Boost

Maintenance of high service standards without undue increase in taxation is the objective of Oak Bay Council in 1959, Reeve George Murdoch said in his inaugural address Monday.

He said Oak Bay enters the year in sound financial condition.

The public works program this year will cost an estimated $321,600.

A winter work program to relieve unemployment will start immediately. It will consist mostly of sewer additions.

Local improvements programs totalling $100,000 will be carried out in the Uplands area in a proposed 94-lot subdivision north of Lansdowne, he said.

NO LOBBYING

The reeve asked that citizens who wish to bring matters to attention of councillors refrain from "lobbying," such as in innumerable telephone calls.

Usual method of bringing a matter to council attention is by letter, he said.

"Councillors already give a considerable amount of their time in public service, without remuneration. I think taking up their free time at home is hardly justified in the majority of cases."

The reeve also renewed his pledge to give the people as much information as possible on council happenings through medium of the press.

When it becomes necessary to transact business in closed committees, "I assure you that such news as may be available will be forthcoming immediately after."

New Power Plan Asked by Labor

Appointment of a royal commission to frame a new power development and distribution program for the province was urged Monday in a brief presented by [illegible] labor to the provincial government.

The brief of the 110,000-member B.C. Federation of Labor also suggested moves to alleviate what it termed "misery, poverty and degredation" in B.C., noting that "thousands of our citizens are not only ill-clad and ill-housed, but actually hungry in one of the most richly-endowed spots in the world."

SEVEN POINTS

The federation recommended seven policies be adopted by the government at the legislative session beginning Jan. [illegible]

1. Declare an emergency exists in the field of unemployment.

2. Immediately make available $5,000,000 for assistance to the unemployed.

3. Call a province-wide conference to plan a far-reaching program of relief for unemployed, including extensive public works.

4. Government acquisition of all power developments (other than those of B.C. Power Commission), including B.C. Electric.

5. Development of the Mica Creek program by the federal and provincial governments under the agency of B.C. Power Commission.

6. Amendment to the Civil Defence Act making it "explicitly clear" that it cannot be used in a labor dispute.

7. Amendment to the Labor Relations Act to make provision for a union to conduct a strike vote at any stage in negotiations "without government interference."

Prince Rupert Man Named

Secretary of Prince Rupert Labor Council, 37-year-old Pat O'Neal, was appointed Monday secretary-treasurer of the B.C. Federation of Labor to succeed George Home.

Mr. O'Neal is fourth vice-president of the federation.

Meeting in Victoria, the federation executive council also appointed James Bury, organizer for the International Federation of Free Trade Unionists in Mexico City, to fill a new federation position of assistant secretary.

Later the council honored Mr. Home at a dinner at the Empress Hotel. The long-time federation official is leaving to take up his new job as director of political education for the Canadian Labor Congress.

Trades Licence Bylaw Revised

City council Monday gave third reading to a revised trade licence bylaw but Ald. Elmer McEwen said he would introduce amendments later in the year.

City comptroller Dennis Young said the revision made only two changes in fees—certain professional categories such as architects will pay $100 instead of $50 and window cleaners and chimney sweeps will pay $5 for each person in their employee on top of the present basic $10 fee.

Chief purpose of the bylaw was to streamline the mechanics of administration and to clean up ambiguities in legal wording, he said.

The bylaw would not affect revenue to the city. Firms pay the trade licences or business tax, whichever is the highest. In the majority of cases, the business tax formula is used because it provides the higher revenue.

Ald. McEwen, expressing opposition to the bylaw because it did not lower trade licence imposts as promised when the business tax was introduced two years ago, refused to consent to suspension of clause-by-clause consideration of the bylaw.

(Under council procedure one alderman can force a full dress review of any bylaw.)

Mayor Percy Scurrah said a clause-by-clause reading would take about two hours.

WITHDRAWS DEMAND

Ald. Arthur Dowell said he was "surprised and disappointed" with Ald McEwen's action because he was a member of the committee that thoroughly considered the revision at a five-hour meeting. He said Ald. McEwen's action was a "slight" on the other committee members.

Ald. McEwen finally withdrew his demand for clause-by-clause study but said he was "prepared to introduce amendments at a later time."

Ald. D. J. Proudfoot, who failed to gain support in an attempt to have the bylaw tabled, said he would do his utmost to cut taxes this year. He added that the bylaw illustrated the city's need for revision and consolidation of all its bylaws and its own charter.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Profit-Taking Hits Toronto, New York

Industrials and western oils recovered part of their early losses on the Toronto stock market today but the exchange remained down in moderate mid-afternoon trading.

Golds were hardest hit by the profit-taking that began with the opening.

Profit-taking on six straight advances to record highs put the New York market moderately lower today. Industrials backed away on a wide front. Steels, rubbers, aircrafts, coppers, oils and most chemicals were losers.

AT TORONTO—Trans-Mountain was the most active industrials for the second straight session, trading 15,000 shares. It gained ⅛ at 13⅝.

Imperial Life had the best gain, rising 7 points to 86. Steel Company of Canada led losers, off 1⅛ at 71⅛.

In western oils Canadian Atlantic and Home Beach erased their losses while Calgary and Edmonton moved up ⅝ at 30⅝.

AT NEW YORK minus signs predominated in the Canadian list. International Nickel was off ⅞, Aluminium ½ and Canadian Pacific ⅛. Small advances were made by Granby Mining, McIntyre Porcupine and Walker-Gooderham.

On the American Stock Exchange the trend was higher. Shawinigan and Scurry Rainbow Oil were ahead among Canadian issues. Canadian Marconi and Jupiter Oils were lower.

AT LONDON gilt-edged securities claimed most of the limelight on the stock market today and under the impetus of a strong investment demand prices showed a further good improvement. Dollar stocks were irregular.

South African gold shares made a satisfactory showing with a number of Freestate issues recording good improvements. Copper shares were uncertain and other base metal shares trended lower.

AT VANCOUVER mining stocks were active with firmer prices during the forenoon. Mid-West Copper moved 51,800 at 18. Sunshine Lardeau traded 2,500 at 16. Bethlehem Copper moved 2,300 at 95. Basco Oils sold 12,500 at 58.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Moderately active flax trade featured an otherwise dull day at the Grain Exchange Tuesday.

Most of the flax was traded in the initial stages of business with export and international accounts showing most interest. Offerings were fair but all were absorbed during the day. Prices advanced slightly. A few export inquiries were reported.

Oats and barley were quiet and prices were steady. Domestic shipping purchases were recorded and there were reports of overnight barley sales to the United Kingdom.

The rye market was irregular and generally of a commission house nature. Business followed trends set by United States markets.

Export loadings of Canadian wheat included: Japan 710,000 bushels; West Germany 650,000; the United Kingdom 400,000, and Ireland 110,000.

Lakehead prices for IWA and domestic wheat were all unchanged from Monday. Class two wheat was also unchanged with the exception of number 5 Northern which was down two cents.

HOWELL FIRST OF THREE ASSIGNED TO CANUCKS

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ron Howell, 23, voted the best Canadian in professional football in 1958 when he played with Hamilton, arrived here Monday to join Vancouver Canucks of the Western Hockey League.

He was picked up from the National League's New York Rangers with whom the Canucks have a working agreement, by way of Buffalo of the American League, where he had been trying out for the last three weeks.

Howell is the first of three AHL players coming here to bolster the second-place Canucks. Norm Corcoran, 27, also with Buffalo, will arrive Wednesday to play right wing or centre while Milan Marcetta, 22, arrives Thursday from Springfield Indians.

THE SCOREBOARD

BY

Harry Grayson

NEW YORK (NEA)—At 42, Eddie Arcaro is riding better than ever and with the enthusiasm of an apprentice.

The greatest of the race riders will take dead aim at this spring's Triple Crown aboard the unbeaten First Landing, rated the finest two-year-old to come along in years.

A. W. Booker tells about the first time Arcaro came around.

EDDIE ARCARO

"In 1931 a man brought his son to me at the old Latonia race track," he recalls for The Thoroughbred Record. "I had a small string, and he asked me to take the boy under my care and teach him to be a jockey. The boy had some experience galloping horses. After he'd been around a few days I could see he had all the qualities.

"I had ridden for almost all the prominent owners. I was the winning jockey on Colonial Girl in the World's Fair Handicap in St. Louis in 1904—the first $50,000 race ever staged in the United States. The year before, my brother Hal had ridden the winner of the Kentucky Derby—Judge Himes, owned by Charley Ellison. It was only a $5,000 race in 1903.

"This boy who was brought to me at old Latonia was smart and quick to learn. He had plenty of ambition and was not at all timid. He had confidence in me, listened to everything I told him. He was a little gentleman which was understandable since he came from a very fine old Italian family. His father was a good provider. The boy had a wonderful mother and two lovely sisters. There was great love and harmony in this family, which built character."

Booker took the boy to Agua Caliente, an ideal place for a youngster to gain experience, without too much competition.

"Since there was no pay for riding horses not in the money, he managed to get a mount in almost every race, and about in the middle of the meeting, when one of my horses rounded into good form, I put him up," recalls Booker. "This was a horse called Eagle Bird, and Eddie Arcaro won three straight on him.

* * *

"I do not think there ever was a boy who worked harder and had less money for his efforts. All of his thoughts were to become not only a jockey, but one of the best. Jockeys have to work hard. They have to live a clean life and keep themselves physically fit.

* * *

"Eddie had a man's head on a boy's shoulders. When he was 16, he was capable of making his own decisions. I recall a man approaching him to give a horse an easy race. He came to me and told all about it. I asked him what was his answer. He said he told the party to jump in the ocean."

When young Arcaro signed with Clarence Davidson, it was at Booker's suggestion that he try to get with some stable that had more horses.

"There have been a few who have won as many races as Arcaro, but there never was one who rode at top form for 27 years, and the end is not yet in sight," stresses Booker.

* * *

"There has never been a shadow of doubt as to Eddie's honesty. He has been set down or fined for what was called rough riding, but that should not be held against him since one definition of the word jockey is to play for position or advantage. They all rode rough. This was before the motion picture camera came into existence."

* * *

One thing Booker told Eddie he has never forgotten—how important it is to save ground.

"I showed him on paper just how much a horse running on the outside of another horse one time around a mile track would lose," recollects Booker. "He will wait or go through an opening on the rail rather than go around a horse, if it is possible. He has won more than half of his races by going the short way and being alert and able to make split-second decisions—knowing when and how to rate a horse and when to go to the front. He profits from a mistake, never makes the same one twice."

A. W. Booker doesn't have to add that any boy thinking of becoming a jockey and a millionaire should study the life and work of Eddie Arcaro.

Eskimos Show Deficit; Consider Price Boost

EDMONTON — Decline of Edmonton Eskimos as monarchs of the Western Football Conference has left its mark on box-office figures.

Eskimos, who have lost out to Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the Conference final in the last two seasons, are the first WFC club to report a deficit for the 1958 season.

Rain on three playing nights, "lack of co-operation" by Alberta and Edmonton governments and decrease in season ticket sales have been blamed by club officials for a $19,435 deficit. The Eskimos showed a $5,412 profit in 1957.

The announcement was made at a dinner of the Edmonton Touchdown Club, where it was stated that, unless the provincial government exempted the club from amusement tax and the civic government "bowled" Clarke Stadium, admission prices would have to be raised to cover the loss.

B.C. Lions announced a profit of $12,955 and Winnipeg Blue Bombers netted $15,022 on the 1958 season.

Moore to Box At Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Archie Moore, the light-heavyweight champion of the world and the National Boxing Association's fighter of the year, will box a six-round exhibition here January 26.

Promoter Earl Kalani said Moore's opponent will likely be either Eddie Cotton, of Seattle, or unbeaten Terry Lewis, of Spokane, Wash.

There will also be a light-heavyweight bout between Tiger Washington, of San Diego, Calif., and former Detroit boxer Johnny Riggins.

Clubs Should Organize To Beat Yanks, Says Ted

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ted Williams, generally recognized as the greatest hitter of modern baseball, will be back at the plate next season.

The slugging outfielder of the Boston Red Sox—who at 40 won the American League batting title last year—broke the news at an informal press conference Monday night.

"I don't know how long I'll be able to continue in baseball," he said. "Three or four years ago I'd have said I wouldn't be playing now. You just can't tell."

GOAL OF 100 GAMES

However, he expects to play at least 100 games—"I'd hate to think I couldn't."

Williams is here for a sports show in which he gives a fly-casting exhibition.

At the conference, Ted spoke of many things—his 1958 batting title (he hit .328), the New York Yankees and their manager Casey Stengel, the players' squabble with owners over money and what he wants out of baseball.

He said he was more concerned about the batting championship in 1957 when he won it with a .388 average, than he was last year.

OUTLASTED MANTLE

"I hadn't won the title in a long while and figured it might be my last chance to do it. I had Mickey Mantle on my neck most of the way until I got lucky and pulled away. I really wanted to win that year."

Williams said that the desire to lead the league last year when he edged out teammate Pete Runnels on the last two days of the season wasn't as great as it was in 1957.

As for the Yankees and Stengel, Williams said the only way to beat them was for the other clubs to organize.

"The Yankees have a great organization," he said. "They are a well-balanced ball club. Don't look to penalize them because they are good. Build up to them and some day they'll have their downs, even though right now they look invincible."

He rated Stengel as one of the great managers of all times.

Speaking of the recent demands by the players for 20 per cent of the gross receipts of the ball club as a salary basis, Williams said he thought the players' representatives went too far.

"They were supposed to have asked the players of each club about the thing, but I know nobody asked me."

SCORING RULES SOUND CAMPBELL TELLS CRITICS

NEW YORK (AP)—Regulations covering the individual scoring championship in the National Hockey League are "sound and should not be tampered with," Clarence Campbell, league president, said Monday.

Campbell took exception to views expressed recently by Maurice Richard of Montreal Canadiens and Lynn Patrick, general manager of Boston Bruins. Richard and Patrick suggested separate trophies for the leaders in goals and assists.

The player with the highest combined total of goals and assists now receives a trophy and a $1,000 cash prize.

"I've known some good scorers who couldn't carry the puck the length of the ice," Campbell said.

Ken Counts Cash After Great Win

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The 1959 winter golf season was off to a rousing start today with Ken Venturi a spectacular winner of the first tournament on the rich money trail.

As the nomadic professionals headed for the next stop, the $20,000 Tijuana Open in Mexico Friday, Venturi counted the $5,300 he picked up off his tremendous come-from-behind victory in the $35,000 Los Angeles Open.

At tee-off time at the Rancho Golf Club Monday the 27-year-old pro from Daly City, Calif., was the forgotten man of the tournament. The gallery, braving blustery winds and cold, was trailing leader Art Wall, Billy Maxwell, U.S. Open champion Tommy Bolt, Mike Souchak and two youngsters, Doug Sanders and John McMullin.

EIGHT STROKES BACK

Venturi was eight strokes behind Wall after rounds of 72-71-72 for the Rancho Club's par 71.

Venturi scored two birdies and two back-to-back eagles on the first nine holes for a course record 30. He played the last nine in 33. That gave him an eight-under par 63 and a 278 total. Wall made a gallant bid but fell short by two strokes.

The 35-year-old Wall had gone into the lead with scores of 71-68-68 for 207, and his last-round 73 was good enough to beat such threats as Maxwell, Bolt, Souchak and company.

Moe Norman of Kitchener, Ont., only Canadian left in the tournament, carded a 75 for a 292 total. He picked up $15.71 for his efforts.

Moore's Four Spark Flyers Over Nanaimo

Gordie Moore fired four of Port Alberni Flyers' 10 goals Sunday as they blanked Nanaimo and moved into a first-place tie with Duncan in the Suburban Hockey League, at Nanaimo Civic Ice Arena.

Duncan battled Courtenay Glaciers to a 7-7 tie in the second game of the day.

Bruno Furlan added three goals to the Nanaimo rout with Earl Robinson scoring two and Shadow Yesowick another.

Robinson was picked up from Nanaimo last week in a trade for Arnie Dugan and Lorne Plensky.

Second behind Bell was Bill Peterson with 756. Defending champion Reg Waggoner registered 701, and Roy Jago 719.

Behind Vogler were Gary Roskamp with 998, Ron Cush 973 (323), Cy Waters 960, and Frank Morgan 958.

Emile Takes Over Don's Haunt Spot

Francis Faces Cats Again Here Tonight

Last season it was Don Chiupka. This season it could be Emile Francis.

Sports history is full of players who have come back to make life miserable for their former teams after being traded, sold or released.

When Victoria Cougars obtained Eddie Dorohoy before the start of the 1957-58 campaign, they sent Chiupka and defenceman Bill Davidson to Seattle in exchange.

Memories of the trade still make the Cougars wince. Chiupka had his best WHL season with Seattle, scoring 24 goals and adding 33 assists for a 57-point total. And 18 of the goals were scored against the Cougars.

NEW TORMENTOR

Pat Egan's Cougars apparently have the Indian sign on Chiupka this season, but in his place as their biggest tormentor is Francis, the veteran of 14 professional seasons who spent most of last season looking after the Victoria goal.

Sold to Spokane after Cougars obtained Marcel Pelletier from Vancouver, Emile has chalked out four victories in five times out against his former mates.

He stopped them twice over the weekend as the Spokes took a 3-1 win Saturday and followed up Sunday with a four-point 5-4 triumph to move within a single point of the third-place Cougars in the WHL's Coast Division race.

DUE FOR TROUBLE

Francis will be at Memorial Arena tonight as the Spokes make a bid to take over third place, but the Cougars vow he's due for nothing but trouble from now on.

To emphasize their claim they point out that Emile has only beaten Victoria at Spokane. In their only earlier appearance here, the Spokes went down to a 5-3 defeat, and they still have three more Victoria trips on their schedule while the Cougars are over their Spokane trips for this season.

On the other hand, there is proof that Francis has saved some of his fanciest shot-stopping for the Cats. He has allowed an average of 4.03 goals per game in the Spokes' 37 outings, but has yielded only 10 goals in four victories over Victoria, which boils down to a 2.5 mark.

CHANCE TO CLIMB

Cougars, now two points behind the runner-up Vancouver Canucks, have a great chance to climb in the next four weeks, with only one of their nine remaining January games scheduled away from Memorial Arena.

Coach Pat Egan said this morning, "We are certainly disappointed over the games at Spokane, but I'm still going with the same lineup tonight.

"We're only two points behind Vancouver and can make them up tonight. It was a great opportunity missed, but we can still make it a hot race for Seattle."

CLIMBS IN POINT RACE

'Pistol' Guns For Top Spot

Eddie "Pistol" Dorohoy of Calgary, who has scored more points than any player in Western Hockey League history, has moved into contention for individual point honors in the 1958-59 scoring race.

The Stampeder center, who also has seen service with Victoria and Seattle during his nine seasons in the WHL, picked up nine points last week to move into second place behind Seattle's Guyle Fielder.

Fielder, held scoreless by both Edmonton and Calgary, remained on top with 56 points. The fast-moving Dorohoy followed with 47.

The goal-scoring lead was shared by Pat Hannigan, of New Westminster, and Ching Johnson, of Spokane, each with 21. Rookie Murray Oliver, of Edmonton, is runner-up with 20.

Barrie Ross, of Winnipeg, stretched his consecutive scoring record to 22 games, three more than the old mark set in 1948-49 by Fern Perrault, of Tacoma. Dorohoy had connected in 12 straight games.

Edmonton's sensational goalie, Ed Johnston, turned in three one-goal games last week and now sports a flossy 2.38 average to head the league's goalkeepers.

Lynn Puts Four On Waiver List

BOSTON (AP) — General manager Lynn Patrick of Boston Bruins admits that forwards Real Chevrefils, Larry Regan, Norm Johnson and Dutch Reibel have been put on waivers in the National Hockey League.

Patrick, who earlier had declined to name the quartet, did so Monday night after a local story identified the players.

The other five National Hockey League clubs have until midnight tonight to claim any or all of them for the waiver price of $15,000 each. Toronto Maple Leafs have first crack at them because of their last-place position in the league race.

LOOKING FOR TRADE

Patrick, seeking to pull the Bruins out of a slump which has sent them in a tailspin from first to fifth place, also wants to make a trade. Bruins have won only three of their last 17 starts.

Chevrefils, a 31-goal right-winger two years ago who was farmed out for disciplinary reasons last season, and the three centres were placed on waivers last Friday.

Regan was the top rookie of the NHL three years ago but a bad knee appears to have bothered him. Johnson, who came up from Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League last season, has not seen much action recently. Reibel was drafted from Detroit Red Wings last summer.

VIKING VIEWS

Basketball Vikings Need More Than Resolutions

The various Victoria College Viking teams, well-rested after the Christmas holidays, have made their New Year's resolutions about winning games and championships.

If the resolutions come true, Victoria College will have a showcase full of trophies by the end of April.

But resolutions such as these are not easy to carry out, and it seems probable that in at least two of the major sports at VC basketball and soccer hopes for major honors must be set aside until next year.

In the case of basketball, it must be admitted that such was generally conceded. The Vikings, in entering Senior "A" competition, were moving in mighty fast company.

All things considered, they did not fare too badly in their first three months against some of the top teams in Canada.

But, on the other hand, many persons expected the Vikings, last season's Canadian junior champions, to win more than one game in the latter months of 1958 despite the fact that the College crew had lost many of its top players through graduation.

And the Collegians began 1959 in the same losing manner, dropping a 64-48 decision to UBC Jayvees at Vancouver Saturday.

Thus, though hoop coach Bill Garner states that the team is "trying hard," hopes for a major title must in reality be all but abandoned.

* * *

The Viking soccer team, too, is not expected to fare well in the New Year, despite the fact that the squad had the Victoria Inter-Collegiate League title almost wrapped up before Christmas.

The team, however, has lost at least five of its stronger players, including captain Bill Gosling, manager Robbie Hamilton, top-scorer Pat Mulcahy, Jamie Costain and Gordon MacBride.

The Vikings must win only two more games to capture the league title. Their opponents will be Royal Roads and Pacific Naval Laboratory, two teams that proved easy picking for the pre-Christmas Vikings.

Where before the Vikings were confident, now, however, there is doubt. But, says Gosling, "They'll be trying hard."

* * *

In other sports, however, prospects appear brighter.

The men's rugby team, for instance, has ambitions of capturing not only the Victoria but also the B.C. second division title.

With an 8-5 won-lost record in pre-Christmas play, the Vikings feel that they will have a fair chance to cop the Victoria Rugby Union second division championship.

Other teams in the second division are expected to be Oak Bay Wanderers II, JBAA II, PPCLI, Venture and Royal Roads.

The Vikings are also expected to defend the Kiwanis Cup in an annual match with Victoria High School. Last year the Collegians retained the trophy by default.

* * *

On the distaff side of the Victoria College sports picture, grass hockey representative Diana Lawrence reports that the women have at least three games on tap.

Although details of the games have not yet been arranged, the Vikettes are slated to meet Queen Margaret's School, University of British Columbia and Victoria Ladies.

The team, which finished third in the Bridgman Cup competition, posted a 7-4-2 won-lost-tied record during the first term.

* * *

Also hoping for a successful season are the members of the women's basketball squad.

The Vikettes, who have participated only in practice games to date this season, are defending provincial junior champions and hope to repeat this year.

FOUGHT WITH 'IDEALIST' CASTRO

Errol Flynn Rebel Casualty

HAVANA (AP)—Actor Errol Flynn, nursing a wound he called a scratch, said Monday night he campaigned with Cuban rebel leader Fidel Castro in a real life episode of his swashbuckling film career.

Flynn told reporters he shared the field hardships and dangers with Castro's forces since Christmas Day because "all my life I've wanted to see what makes an idealist tick".

He found Castro "one of those men who come along occasionally in human history and fight for ideals".

Flynn said he got his wound eight days ago.

"When bullets fly," Flynn said, "sometimes people get hurt. I was hiding behind a post—as usual—when a bullet hit the post and then my leg."

Fisher, Gobel Shows End

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Eddie Fisher's television show will leave the air March 17, a spokesman for the singer confirmed Monday. George Gobel, whose show alternates with Fisher, also will be dropped.

Spokesmen for NBC and Fisher said his recent headlines involving Debbie Reynolds and Liz Taylor had nothing to do with the situation.

"It's strictly a matter of low ratings," said one network source, "although there is no doubt that Eddie's marital troubles caused some head-shaking among the brass."

Debt Cut, Revenue Up City Picture for '59

Mayor Percy Scurrah informed council Monday that Victoria began the new year with a smaller debt, a 10 per cent increase in taxable assessment and only 900 undeveloped lots left.

In his inaugural address, the mayor said $491,708 of the city's debt had been paid back during the year, leaving a net debt of $7,078,025.

The gross debt, including self-liquidating items, dropped from $202.88 per capital in 1957 to $193.87 last year.

"Year by year our financial position has improved and today we are one of the few cities in Canada . . . consistently reducing our debt," he said.

Taxable assessment rose during 1958 by $8,257,398 to a total of $90,002,881, an increase of 10 per cent in the major revenue source.

Tax Roll Up

The tax roll increased by another $3,552,290 representing government, municipal, school, church and other tax-exempt property from which no revenue is obtained by the city.

Mayor Scurrah said during 1958 the homeowners paid only 49.39 per cent of the total tax bill.

Major increase in the assessment was caused by the provincial-ordered assessment equalization of older homes.

Mayor Scurrah strongly urged council to spend money to make money this year by servicing lots so they can be sold.

He said the city has only 900 lots left, including 700 that require servicing. Although costs of servicing the properties would eliminate any profits on the sales of these properties, it would put them on the tax roll.

"In view of the fact that the sale of property has financed all our capital expenditures during the last 10 years and because we are practically scraping the bottom of the barrel for properties now, I feel it is essential that we service as many as possible of the remaining lots during 1959," he said.

135 Lots Sold

Last year the city sold 135 lots for a total of $216,789, an increase of $110,719 over the previous year's sale of 83 lots for $106,070.

Mayor Scurrah said it was essential to build up the sagging land sales account for future capital expenditures. The account paid for the Point Ellice Bridge, the new firehall and the garbage wharf now under construction.

Another decision that should be reached soon is whether a family court should be established for Greater Victoria.

"Such a court has been found extremely desirable wherever one has been established and my opinion is that one should be established for the Greater Victoria area," he said.

The mayor also urged construction of several more rooms at the juvenile detention home to handle difficult cases requiring more security precautions.

He expressed the hope that juvenile cases in the area will be handled by a single magistrate instead of being divided between two as at present.

He said these questions are under review by the inter-municipal committee and he hoped decisions would be forthcoming soon.

Referring to extra-municipal matters, the mayor noted that Saanich had disposed of the amalgamation question "at least for the time being" by rejecting union.

Learn Hard Way

"It is quite evident that our neighbors were not ready for such a move and it is also evident that the value of a partnership will have to be learned the hard way before it can be brought about," he said.

The mayor recommended, with unanimous support from council, that Lieutenant-Governor Frank M. Ross be named a freeman of the city. The official ceremony will be held later.

Among other recommendations from the mayor were:

Expenditure of $62,000, if available, for repair and replacement of sewers and drains;

Span Redecking

Expenditure of $60,000 for redecking the Johnson Street bridge;

Replacement of an 18-inch storm drain between Fifth and Quadra with a 24-inch pipe to eliminate a bottleneck;

Continue the program of putting Bowker Creek underground;

Expenditure of $25,000 for an approach road to the Point Ellice Bridge;

Installation of new water mains in the Rock Heights, Earls Court and Harriet subdivisions;

Re-submission for the fourth time, of an application for improvement of Douglas between Battery and Superior by the Capital Improvement District Commission;

Widening of Foul Bay Road, between Oak Bay and Fort, at a cost of $24,000 to the city;

Installation of mercury street lights on a number of main arteries at a cost of $24,000;

Expenditure of $6,000, from a special fund, for developing Thetis Lake Park.

Among 1958's problems carried over to this year is filling of the assistant medical health officer position and a decision on repairing the Memorial Arena floor if an examination after the current hockey season ends indicates more work is required.

Mill Bay-Brentwood Ferry Drops $2,982

Coast Ferries operation between Mill Bay and Brentwood showed a loss of $2,982 during the period Oct. 21 and Nov. 30, which will be paid by the B.C. government.

An order-in-council authorized the payment Monday. The ferry company has been released from contract with the highways department and is operating on a month-to-month basis under subsidy. The contract was cancelled when the firm complained it was losing money.

VICTORIA, B.C., TUESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1959

NAVIGABLE WATERS ACT could well have replaced traffic bylaws in many parts of city this morning as motorists heading for work splashed through piles of slush, and gutters running with several inches of water spilled over into roadways. Pedestrians had it tougher than motorists, having to pick way through wet, and occasionally dodge showers from passing cars.—(Times photo)

. . . HERE AND THERE . . .

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

British Columbia's premiers are a tough-looking family, in the opinion of portrait photographer Arthur J. Angier from Montreal.

On a tour of the Legislative Buildings, little Mr. Angier spent some time studying the portraits of successive premiers hanging in the rotunda.

"They look pretty tough," he said. "From my knowledge of faces, I would say the late Premier Pattullo and Premier Bennett would be similar types. Once set on a course they would bulldoze their way through almost any opposition."

Mr. Angier agreed that the late John Hart had a "gentle expression," but didn't think this gentleness would survive political hassle . . .

Talking Politics . . . a leading Victoria Conservative and active Jaycee had his first dip of the season New Year's Eve when he plunged fully clothed into an ornamental pond outside a posh city residence.

One version of the story is that he was tossed into the pond by irate guests after crashing a party in the house.

Stanley Winterbottom of United Taxi Service showed me a heart-warming thank-you letter received from Mrs. Owen Cowling of The Portland Oregonian.

While dining at the Princess Mary restaurant last week, Mrs. Cowling and four women friends from Portland called him for a taxi to take them on a tour of Victoria's illuminated homes.

"I want to tell you how very, very much we appreciate your courtesy and friendliness to us and how much we enjoyed the drive and the lighting," Mrs. Cowling wrote.

"We have been plugging for Victoria ever since and will be back there next summer."

STAFF FUND AT YARROWS REIMBURSED

An employees' benevolent fund at Yarrows Ltd., reportedly missing a considerable sum of money, has been reimbursed, it was learned authoritatively today.

Fund officials were silent, but it is understood the sum involved was about $5,000.

Report of an unidentified accountant called in to check the fund books was never made public. The fund is administered solely by Yarrows employees, not by the company.

An investigation into the missings funds report also was undertaken by Esquimalt police in conjunction with the fund committee, but the outcome was kept secret.

Victoria Hottest Spot After Winter Wallop

Storm Drives Back Arctic Air Mass

Victoria's "one-day winter" ended overnight, leaving behind a mess of slushy streets and brimming gutters.

An overnight low of 31 degrees, just one degree of frost, made Victoria the warmest spot in Canada.

The city was saved from a predicted additional six inches of snow to go with the five inches which fell Sunday night and Monday morning by the unexpected action of a weather disturbance over the Pacific.

The storm fooled the forecasters by providing a stronger surge from the west than expected, driving back the Arctic air to the interior.

Brief but heavy rain showers, which helped wash away the slush, would have been snow if the weather disturbance had followed its predicted course.

During the next 24 hours, the temperature will be influenced by air travelling from the Arctic, through the Gulf of Alaska, out into the Pacific, then across Vancouver Island. Strength of the Arctic air mass will be diluted by its long journey over water, meaning temperatures from just above freezing tonight to 40 Wednesday.

Skies will be cloudy with intervals of clearing, plus rain showers occasionally mixed with snow.

WET FEET

After Monday's snow-and-traffic chocked streets, even the pulpy mass of dirty slush was welcomed by motorists today, although pedestrians had their troubles picking their way through clogged gutters.

One death Monday was directly attributed to the storm.

George D. Carroll, 2520 Vancouver, collapsed and died after shovelling snow outside his home at 1.35 p.m.

He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, but was dead on arrival.

Hospitals reported emergency wards only "fairly busy" treating sprains and minor injuries caused by falls on slippery streets.

Several youngsters were treated for bruises and abrasions sustained while skating.

After school Monday, the small fry had a field day with snowball fights, sleighing and skating, but the winter sports were short lived.

B.C. Electric bus schedules are back to normal today. All main streets and most side streets are in good shape, with works crews removing snow and clearing drains.

NEAR-NORMAL

If the weather holds, up-Island car travel will be near normal.

Plowing of snow and slush off roads was still underway late this morning in most areas.

But temperature hikes and light showers had done as much to ease motoring conditions as highways department work of plowing and sanding.

Latest government road report said the Malahat was clear; driving near Duncan was "fair" with advice to "drive cautiously" due to still slippery conditions; Nanaimo district roads were described as "fair" with plowing still underway.

Sanding is still in progress in the Parksville-Alberni area.

Nanaimo temperature was 34 degrees, and cloudy; Comox was 36 and sunny, while the only snow was reported at the Island's north end—a light snow—in a temperature of 33 degrees.

Temperature on the Island's west coast were even warmer, about 40 degrees generally.

EMERGENCY OVER

Vancouver, also plagued with snow-induced traffic problems Monday, called off a "snow emergency" order when the weather changed for the better.

Monday afternoon, police planned to ban all parking in Vancouver's downtown area, but the ban was cancelled.

By 7 a.m. the temperature was 37 degrees, with a forecast high for the day of 42.

SWEDISH SHIP DELAYED BY CALIFORNIA STORMS

Arrival at Esquimalt of the Swedish minelayer-training ship HSwMS Alvsnabben likely will be delayed by storms hitting the California coast.

The ship is at San Francisco today, and port authorities have refused to grant clearance to any ship while 100-mile-an-hour winds continue to rage along the coast.

Alvsnabben had been scheduled to arrive here at 10 a.m. Thursday for a three-day visit.

NEW HIGH OF 600,000 HP

16% Power Hike For Commission

B.C. Power Commission will increase its generating capacity by 16 per cent early this year to a new high of 600,000 horsepower

A forecast of activities for 1959 highlights the Ash River hydro electric development and the Georgia gas turbine plant, near Chemainus, both in the final stages of work.

Acting general manager R. C. McMordie said the boost in generation from 518,000 horsepower will be sufficient to care for the 25 per cent consumption increase in the next 12 months.

Mr. McMordie said future planning on power sources will hinge on meetings in March of the International Joint Commission, when engineering reports on the Columbia are expected. The commission has also claimed power sites on the Clearwater system but action is deferred pending settlement of Columbia negotiations.

The commission expects to extend power this year to Thetis and Kuper Islands and other islands are being surveyed. This is the final stage in a Gulf Islands electrification program started 10 years ago.

LIEUT.-COL. ALLAN

Princess Pats' Boss Here

Lieut.-Col. James C. Allan, DSO, MBE, 45, new commanding officer of the First Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, arrived in Victoria Monday and officially will take over his new duties at a Work Point ceremonial parade at 2 p.m., Jan. 15.

He will succeed Lieut.-Col. Thomas de Faye, who has been battalion commanding officer since 1955. Col. de Faye will leave Victoria Jan. 26 for a six-month course with the U.S. army in Norfolk, Virginia, before taking over as Canadian army liaison officer at Continental Army Command, near Norfolk.

Col. Allan, born in MacLeod, Alta., joined the army in September, 1939, and served in England and in the Italian campaign where he was wounded in action. From 1945 to 1950 he held administrative posts and attended courses in the United States and England. During the winter of 1951-52 he was second in command of the Patricias. Since 1956, he has been liaison officer of the assistant chief of staff, U.S. Army, Washington, D.C.

Assessment Appeal Studied by Saanich

Is Saanich paying more than its share of taxes towards the Greater Victoria education system.

The provincial court of revision may be asked to inquire into this issue if Saanich Council decides to appeal its municipay assessment roll.

Council is considering a recommendation from Comptroller-Treasurer John Tribe that it launch an appeal against present assessments of residential homes in Saanich.

The notice-of-appeal must be filed by Jan. 17.

HIGHER THAN CITY

Mr. Tribe informed council investigations carried out during the past year indicated that dwellings in Saanich are being assessed higher than similar homes in Victoria and Oak Bay.

This had resulted, he said, in Saanich paying higher taxes towards school costs than Victoria.

SAANICH

Reeve George Chafterton said today council feels assessments are a "little high" for residential property.

"We don't say the assessments are not correct," he explained. "But our assessments seem to be higher than those of the city. If this is so then our assessments should be reduced or the city's raised to our level."

SORE POINT

The steadily rising assessments have been a sore point with Saanich for some time.

Coun. Leslie Passmore a year ago complained that Saanich was paying more towards school costs than the city.

The councillor made a house-to-house survey of homes assessed in the two municipalities. He reported that dwellings of similar age and value were assessed higher in Saanich.

Council protested to the provincial government and requested an interview with K. E. B. Wildman, assessment commissioner, with a view to reviewing assessments.

But the meeting never came off. Council was informed that Mr. Wildman would be unable to meet council due to illness.

Tougher City Stand Seen In Intermunicipal Affairs

Victoria probably will take a tougher stand at intermunicipal meetings this year as a result of a substitution in its representation Monday.

City council, at its inaugural meeting, confirmed the appointment of Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow to the committee replacing Ald. A. I. Curtis.

Both are hard bargainers but Ald. Edgelow is more vocal in his insistence that the city has borne far more than its fair share of Greater Victoria projects in the past. He has frequently criticized council for being too soft in dealing with the other municipalities.

SALK SHOTS BEAT POLIO; ONLY 13 CASES IN B.C.

The continuing program of Salk anti-polio vaccination reduced the number of polio cases in B.C. to 13 last year, compared to 225 in 1955 when the innoculation program began.

More than 500,000 persons, children under 16 and expectant mothers, have received a total of 2,000 gallons of vaccine. Booster shots are still being given and new pupils are being treated when parents approve.

The B.C. health department has extended the program each year. Local organizations have conducted similar campaigns for adults, for a small fee.

Naval Personnel Chief Here For Ship, Shore Inspection

Rear Admiral Kenneth L. Dyer, chief of naval personnel at headquarters, Ottawa, arrived here today for a five-day tour of Pacific Command ship and shore establishments.

During his visit he will consult with Rear Admiral H. S. Rayner, Flag Officer, Pacific Coast and senior officers.

Admiral Dyer was last on this coast as commanding officer of HMCS Naden.

On arrival he inspected an honor guard at HMC Dockyard, and paid an official call on Admiral Rayner.

At noon he visited the Canadian Services College, Royal Roads, where he addressed the officer cadets in training.

He will visit the RCN Depot at Dockyard on Wednesday.

Before lunching with Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross, Admiral Dyer will address cadets at HMCS Venture, the navy's junior officer training establishment at Dockyard.

Wednesday afternoon he will inspect the four ships of the Second Canadian Minesweeping Squadron and hold discussions with the commanding officers.

Thursday morning he will board HMCS Crescent for a meeting with Capt. James C. Pratt, senior officer of the Second Canadian Escort Squadron, and other officers.

Later he will visit two ships of the Fourth Canadian Escort Squadron, the frigates Jonquiere and New Waterford.

In the afternoon, the CNP will go to Patricia Bay for an inspection of the Navy's utility air squadron VU33, and the underwater firing range nearby.

Friday he will confer with Commodore Harold Groos, commanding officer of HMCS Naden, inspect the barracks and the new Naval Technical School, and will address Naden personnel at ceremonial divisions in the afternoon.

Admiral Dyer will leave from Patricia Bay airport Saturday.

'Good Music' Radio Station May Get Licence This Month

Application of the Saanich Broadcasting Co. to erect a "good music" station here will be considered at public hearings January 28-31 by the Board of Broadcast Governors in Ottawa.

All three principals of the firm will be attending. They are the president, Ellison Queale; vice president, Jack Allison, and manager-secretary, Roy Parrett.

The company first made application for the station in 1957, and there were two subsequent delays in hearings.

Planned is a $40,000 initial installation on a site already under lease at Swan Lake.

AND COSTLY, SAYS WARREN

Severe Pruning 'Waste of Time'

Severe pruning of boulevard trees would be costly and a waste of time, according to city parks administrator W. H. Warren.

His comment was made in answer to a letter by Miss B. C. Newton, 301 Moss, criticizing the parks department for removing tall shade trees from boulevards.

Miss Newton said the trees should be trained by pruning to clear electric and telephone wires instead of being cut down.

She said this was the system followed before 1940.

"No doubt the valuable English hawthorne trees, deep pink in a gorgeous massed sight on May Street every spring, will be cut down in a few years unless gardeners and not woodsmen take charge of them," she said.

WON'T BE NATURAL

Mr. Warren said only dead or diseased twigs and branches should be pruned or else the tree will not grow in its natural shape.

"Perhaps before Miss Newton's time the May Street trees were pruned in the way she mentions and when they were treated that way they didn't flower at all," he said.

The department's aim is to replace tall trees with smaller ones instead of cutting them back to clear wires, he said.

Unitarian Fund To Get Proceeds

At the repeat lecture Friday night by John Manning on his round the world trip a collection will again be taken for the Unitarian Services Committee's milk for children project. At the first lecture $362 was realized.

All tickets to the repeat lecture have been issued and there are no more available for the seating capacity of the Oak Bay Junior High auditorium. However any of those who have obtained tickets and find they cannot go for personal reasons are asked to return them so others may have them. The demand has been heavy.

The lecture is sponsored by the Victoria Times as a public service and Times editor Bruce Hutchison will introduce the lecturer Friday.

Peter Burchett of Williamson's again will operate the projector.

LUNIK'S SECRET

2 Million Pounds Of Thrust

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—A German missile expert Monday estimated that the Soviet cosmic rocket must have had a thrust of about 2,000,000 pounds. He said this was something the U.S. will only achieve in about a year.

Heinz Gartmann, member of the German Society for Space Research, said in an article in the Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung he also estimates the initial weight of the Russian rocket was at least 250 and possibly as much as 400 tons.

Gartmann said he did not believe the Russians wanted to hit the moon but had intended from the beginning to create the first artificial planet.

Generosity Of Victoria Draws Thanks

Gratitude was expressed today by Unitarian Service Committee director Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova to Victoria citizens who contributed to the recently concluded "Milk for Hungry Children Fund."

A cheque for $7,410 was wired at year's end, and money subsequently received from "last-minute" donations will follow when the total is complete.

Dr. Hitschmanova termed the money—which will ship powdered milk to starving children in the Far East—"an extraordinarily wonderful New Year's gift."

She pointed out that the total was the third largest since The Times sponsored various USC drives here, starting in 1953. "Money realized on behalf of the USC from Victorians is close to $58,000.

The month-long campaign here for the milk fund helped put the USC drive for $200,000 "over the top" by $3,000—largest annual total ever realized.

"I wish I could bring these boys and girls right into your own living rooms, and in their eyes and from their lips you would read the thanks I can convey to you only in their names."

Dr. Hitschmanova expressed special thanks to John "Around the World" Manning, whose lecture of his travels raised $362 for the fund.

NICE TO LOOK BACK ON

Sunniest Month Record in 1958

Weatherwise, Victoria established one new record in 1958—for the sunniest month here in history.

July had 424.7 hours of sunshine, brightest ever. It also competed with July, 1889, and August, 1901, as the driest month on record.

Rainfall was nil.

Probably due to the hot July (87.3 degrees on the 27th and the year's warmest), sunshine was 194.3 hours above normal, totalling 2,390.7. It was close to the highest recorded: 2,545.3 hours in 1951.

Rainfall measured 25.80 inches, down a fraction from normal, while total snowfall was 2.6 inches, down 9.4 from normal.

Wettest month was November with 7.24 inches of precipitation. It rained on 135 days.

Lowest temperature was 29 degrees, Nov. 16, while mean temperature for the year was 52.2 degrees, 2.3 degrees above normal.

Dullest month was December when the sun shone only 47.5 hours. Dullest on record was in December, 1917, and Jan., 1953, which both saw a slight 31.2 hours of brightness.

Average temperature last month was 43.7 degrees, a plus of 2.3, and warmest temperature was 57 degrees on Dec. 1, a new high for that date. It rained 4.07 inches and snowed 2.1.

GIRL FRIEND INSULTED

Fist Fight Brings Two Combatants $25 Fines

A man who claimed he was defending his girl friend's honor was found guilty of creating a disturbance by fighting and fined $25 in city police court Monday.

Godfrey Stevens, 710 Cormorant, had pleaded not guilty to the charge arising from a fight outside Fairfield Hotel, Douglas and Cormorant, Christmas Eve.

The other principle, Garnet Stevenson, RCN, pleaded guilty to the same charge Dec. 27 and was fined $25.

"He said I said something to his girl friend and we proceeded to fight," Stevenson said.

"He called me some vulgar names," said the girl friend, Carol Pheobe Mills.

Stevens told the court he objected to what he thought was an insult to Miss Mills, argued with Stevenson, then tried to stop a struggle between Stevenson and a third man.

"I tried to break up a fight between Roger Lindsay and Garnet Stevenson and I got a couple of smashes in the face," the accused said.

Cons. Albert Harwood said when he reached the scene the accused was stripped to the waist on top of Stevenson and hitting him. There was blood on both men, he said.

"The other man had taken quite a beating," the officer said, and the attack was so vicious he put handcuffs on Stevens, who then tried to butt Stevenson with his head.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Lynn Waddell, age 14, of San Diego, Calif., for her question:

What are Cepheid variable stars?

A variable star varies in brightness. There are several kinds of variable star, one of which is the Cepheid variable. The discovery of these stars is one of the most fascinating stories of astronomy. It dates back to 1596 when a Dutch astronomer named Fabricius spotted a rather temperamental star in the autumn constellation Cetus, the Sea Monster.

Cetus is a long, straggly constellation southwest of the glimmering Pleiades. The brightness of a star is recorded on a scale of magnitude. A star of 1st magnitude is 2½ times as bright as a star of 2nd magnitude and so on. Fabricius spotted a star of 3rd magnitude in Cetus for which no previous record existed. It faded in a few weeks and was forgotten.

In 1638, Holwarda, another Dutch astronomer, discovered that the bright star found and lost by Fabricius had popped up again. Holwarda kept a check on this temperamental star and found that it blazed forth at 11-month intervals. The strange star was named Mira, the Wonderful.

The Arabs may have noticed a variable star in the fall constellation Perseus. They loved the stars and usually gave them flattering names. This fellow, however, they named Algol, the Demon. About 1782, the English astronomer Goodricke got around to studying Algol, the Demon, in detail.

Goodricke found Algol to be a variable star with a period of 2 days and 21 hours. He then went on to study a variable star in the constellation Cepheus. The special variables in this constellation provided the name for the class of Cepheid variable stars.

Variables Huge in Size

A Cepheid variable star is a giant, often several hundred times bigger and brighter than our sun. Its short blazing and fading period is very punctual. However, it does not vary so much as a Mira-type star, which may vary from 10th to 2nd magnitude. The Cepheid varies from a ½ to 1½ magnitudes. We are not sure what causes all the different variable stars, but some think that the Cepheid explodes and subsides, pulsing like a beating heart.

In 1908, Miss Leavitt, of the Harvard Observatory, found a fact which made the Cepheids useful to astronomers. She was studying these stars in the small Magellanic Cloud, which is outside our Galaxy. She proved that the longer the period, the greater the brightness of a Cepheid.

Now a star has two magnitudes. The apparent magnitude is how bright it appears to be as seen from the earth. Its absolute magnitude is how bright is actually is, regardless of distance. By comparing the absolute and the apparent magnitude of a star, we can estimate its distance. Since 1917, the Cepheid variable stars have been used to estimate the distances of star clusters and of faraway galaxies. They are perhaps the most valuable yardsticks in the heavens.

* * *

Andy sends a Hammond's International World Globe to Allen Burdette, age eight, of Charleston, West Virginia, for his question:

What Are Space Orbits?

Most of our words came down to us from older languages. What they meant before often helps us to understand better what they mean now. The orbit came from an older word which meant the rut left by a wheel track. Such a track shows the path of a wheel or wagon.

Our word orbit also means a path. But it is not the path of a round wheel. Instead it is the path of a round orb or sphere, a heavenly body such as the sun, the moon or a planet. Each of these heavenly bodies races through space around its own path, or orbit.

In 1958, the first man-made moons were launched. They too became heavenly bodies, solid objects hurtling through the heavens.

Espresso Coffeemakers Being Sold in Victoria!

By PENNY SAVER

I'm heralding into Victoria this very popular type of coffeemaker which originated in Italy. It has caught on in all European countries and in eastern Canada. Now it's here.

The coffeemaker works on the pressure principle and produces the most delicious coffee. At the same time it is extremely economical.

Made of cast duraluminium, the appliance has a perfect finish and is beautifully designed. It's fireproof with a thick base, for use on any kind of cooking plate, electric or gas.

Simple to clean, the espresso consists of a lower chamber for water, which at boiling point expands, rising through a coffee cage and filtering into the top chamber from which it is served. Unit powers as one, the lower and upper chambers being screwed together for use.

To use the remarkable gadget you separate the two chambers by unscrewing them at the centre, remove the filter and fill the bottom chamber with water to come just below the filter funnel.

Fill this funnel with ground coffee (and this is where you save, for a small quantity will produce a brew in which your coffee spoon will stand upright!). In a few moments you'll have espresso coffee.

There are makers in various sizes starting at a two demitasse cup size and up. Price range starts at $5.45 and goes up to $12.95.

Phone me if you'd like to become an espresso drinker . . . you'll be glad you did! My number is EV 2-3131.

Drop by spoonfuls on hot applesauce. Cover kettle tightly and steam over low heat 15 minutes. Serve warm with plain or whipped cream.

If desired, 1 cup biscuit mix may be used in place of flour, baking powder, salt and shortening.

Sacred Heart Church Setting for Wedding

Marriage vows were exchanged recently in Sacred Heart Church between Donna Rae Margaret Hickey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Hickey, 1240 Harrop Road, and James Peter Pearson, HMCS Crescent, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Pearson of Fort Francis, Ont.

Father J. Planeta officiated, and Mr. Mulcahy sang "Ave Maria" during signing of the register.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her white wedding gown was styled in semi-formal length with net skirt and lace bodice with long sleeves and two floating panels of net extending from the back of the neckline. She carried a bouquet of red roses and ivy.

Maid of honor, Miss Marilynne Douglas, cousin of the bride, wore rose-toned taffeta. Bridesmatron, Mrs. Jeni Braden, chose blue taffeta. Their flowers were rose and white, and blue and white carnations respectively.

Mother of the bride wore a beige net dress with dark brown accessories and corsage of pink roses.

Best man was David Anderson and the ushers, A. Angell and K. Wardell.

Reception was held in the Pacific Club where the bride's uncle, A. W. Skinner, proposed the toast.

The honeymoon was spent at Qualicum, B.C., the bride travelling in a grey suit with rose-toned accessories and corsage of white carnations.

DEAR ABBY . . .

'A Bit o' Knowledge' Not Enough

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Some girls get into trouble because they "know too much"—but ours (age 15) got into trouble because she didn't know enough. A soldier stationed near here (age 20) got her into trouble and we had a talk with him. He said he had to get his parents' consent to marry but he stalled around for five weeks. I finally went to his C.O. and got his home address. I wrote his mother explaining everything as one mother to another, but she didn't even have the common courtesy to answer my letter. After three months we practically dragged this boy to our clergyman and it came out that he was already married and a father. Our daughter begged us not to create a fuss, but how can we let him go free after what he's done to her? Please give me some advice. We are half-crazy.

NO SIGNATURE

DEAR NO: The boy is morally bankrupt. See his Commanding Officer and give him the facts. He should be dealt with according to military regulations.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who includes his mother in all his dates? And what do you think of a mother who asks to be included.

DISGUSTED.

DEAR DISGUSTED: I think they deserve each other.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: We've been married 12 years and I have a wonderful wife, but she treats me like a child. She makes me eat everything on my plate whether I like it or not and she tells me to go to bed when I'm not sleepy. We both work and have no children and there is nothing we want that we can't have, but the way she treats me keeps me from being happy. I am a peace-loving man and don't like long arguments in the house. How can I change my wife?

QUIET MAN.

DEAR QUIET: It's time you made a little noise. You won't change your wife but you can change your tactics. Tell her gently, but sweetly and firmly that you will not be "put to bed" and all the rest of it. When she knows you mean business, she will back down—and probably like it!

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Please straighten this out once and for all. My parents have both remarried and both have children from their second marriage. My mother says that her children by my step-father are my half-sisters and my step-father's children by his first wife are my step-brothers, and my father tells me that his children by his second wife are my step-sisters and brothers. Now how about the new baby from my mother and my step-father? Is he my half-brother or my step-brother? Thank you.

ALL MIXED UP.

DEAR ALL: The children of your mother by your step-father and the children of your father by your step-mother are all half-sisters and half brothers. The children of your step-mother (and step-father) are step-sisters and step-brothers.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ARLENE: You are "mature" when you can do what you OUGHT to do whether you want to do it or not.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

GOING AWAY PARTY FOR BOY FRIEND

My boy friend is going into the service in about two weeks. I want to give a party for him and have all his closest boy friends and their girls. My parents say it is not proper for me to do this, that it is the place of his parents or boy friends. Would you kindly give me your opinion?

Louise

LOUISE DAVIS ANSWERS

I advise you to go along with your parents and I promise you that some day you will have a better understanding as to why. One of their reasons is to prevent any resentment on the part of the boy's parents, for you may be stealing their thunder. I have a suggestion that your parents might consider as a compromise and that is instigating an impromptu Dutch treat party. It could be given at the home of any of those in favor of the idea. It is wise for you to avoid giving the party yourself, but a Dutch treat affair would imply that the crowd is giving it and that you are the promoter, rather than the sole giver. Girls should steer clear of spending money on boys, whether the money is for a party or for a gift.

WHY GROW OLD?

A Shove to Beauty—That's The 8-Week Marathon Plan

Are your New Year's resolutions still warm? I am sure that you made them in good faith and with every intention of living up to them. However, life has a way of slipping up on us in the form of that old devil procrastination.

With the new deal and the hope and optimism which the New Year brought us, we glowed with good intentions. Has life gotten hold of you and caused you to put off from day to day the self-discipline which is necessary in order to put your resolutions into effect?

I am sure that many of you determined to become lovelier looking, to lose that aging overweight, to remedy or improve any defects in beauty you may have.

Well, I am here to give you a not-too-gentle shove with my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon which I am offering you this week. The idea is to see how much you can improve your appearance, with my help and direction, during that length of time. Next August I will print a few letters from Marathon winners.

You COULD reduce on pie a la mode. You could eat nothing else but that and still lose if you counted the calories and held them to 1,200 a day but I hate to think what you would look like and feel like.

The point I am making is that it is not the kind of food you eat but the number of calories that food brings to you which dictates your weight. When the calorie intake is cut it is even more essential than ever to take special care that you get the vital materials for health in your daily menus.

Eat a well-balanced diet with milk, eggs and lean meat, fresh fruit, vegetables and baked potatoes and some whole grain foods. You can cut out desserts and "trimmings" of all sorts without damage. You can cut down on fats and take smaller portions. You can eat quite well on 1,200 calories a day.

If you join Marathon you will be in good company, and have lots of it, judging by the mail which is pouring in. If you would like to get started, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon booklet. Address Josephine Lowman, care of this newspaper.

Bermuda Telegrams Read at Reception

Congratulatory telegrams from Bermuda were read at the wedding reception recently of Cynthia Anne Ball and Gerald Patrick Sinnott. The couple were married in St. John's Church with Canon George Biddle officiating. Mrs. W. B. Milburn was organist.

The groom's brother officers of the Fifth Medium Independent Battery, RCA, attended in uniform. Bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Ball of Thetis Lake Park. Groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Sinnott of Langford.

The bride's father gave his daughter in marriage.

White taffeta brocade was cut to traditional floor length with a chapel train. Bodice featured lily point sleeves with a scoop neck outlined in seed pearls. Bridal veil of French illusion net misted from headpiece.

Pink carnations with white feathered chrysanthemums formed bridal bouquet.

Green taffeta shot with blue was styled on sheath lines with a matching overskirt was chosen for attendants' gowns. They had matching headbands, shoes and gloves.

Matron of honor was Mrs. H. George Harper and bridesmaids were Miss Geraldine Patrick, Vancouver, and Miss Ann Ferreira, Victoria.

Norman Churchland, Vancouver, stood as best man, and Lieut. Frank Dunn, RCA, and H. George Harper were ushers.

Receiving guests at the wedding reception, Mrs. Ball wore a dress of green figured silk with turquoise accessories and a red rose corsage. Mrs. Sinnott chose a two-piece silk crepe dress in royal blue with winter white accessories and pink carnations.

Three-tier wedding cake was made by the bride's mother. Red roses decorated the bridal table and baskets of chrysanthemums stood at each side of the fireplace. W. Gornall proposed the toast to the bride.

Bride left wedding reception in salmon-colored two-piece wool dress with a white fur hat and a Harris tweed light flecked suit. A corsage of red roses was pinned to her coat.

Following their honeymoon in Victoria, the couple will return to Vancouver, where they will finish their studies at the University of British Columbia.

IN DAYS GONE BY

There Was Snow and Ice, Frozen Feet and Hands, Too

By MARIE MILBURN

Snow always seems to throw Victorians into a mild state of panic. You would think they had never seen the stuff before. Yet, looking back, it's no new story.

JAN. 2, 1900:

"The extreme cold weather of the past few days has been the cause of a large number of frozen feet, hands, etc., which have been attended to by the city hospitals."

Citizens at the turn of the century didn't have our complaint about bus fares. In fact, life was rosy for the riders in street cars.

REDUCTIONS

"Commencing on New Year's Day, the B.C. Electric Railway Co. will make another reduction in street car fares . . . 25 tickets for $1. This reduces the fare to 4 cents."

Buying a new house wasn't much of a financial headache in 1900 either.

We read: "Ten-roomed house, brick, all modern conveniences, $2,200; 20 acres, Cordova Bay . . five-roomed cottage, fruit trees, good well; ⅛ mile of sea frontage, $1,800."

Believe it or not, there was one item that made 1959 look not so bad, after all, as far as the pocketbook goes:

The advertisement reads like this:

"Victoria library subscriptions, $1 per month, or one bit (12½ cents) per volume."

Today we get a card free—nothing down!

But speaking of complaints, Esquimalt was certainly having a bad time of it in 1900:

"For some time complaint has been made that the village of Esquimalt has been without lights . . . and the necessity on some streets of the little village has been very much felt. Recognizing this, the provincial government has ordered the installation of two electric lights there which will be in operation in a few days."

If you think the world situation is tense today, a look at the front page of Jan. 2, 1900, proves that there has always been something to fear, some part of the world war-torn:

"The news received by the Aorangi (steamer) that the bubonic plague has reached Honolulu has created considerable alarm . . ."

"Tsar Nicholas is sending letters to European governments deploring the present (Boer) war."

The only answer is to keep a sense of humor—they did in 1900:

"Joe Peddell, a farmer living a short distance west . . . became intoxicated while in town and drove into the river with a horse and gig."

9 IN MEMORIAM

GUSTAFSON—In loving memory of my husband, Sigvard, who passed away suddenly January 6, 1958.

Lord, give me gratitude for pleasures past,
The joys Thou sawest fit to take away,
The treasures that were lent me for awhile—
And then recalled. Oh, help me, Lord, to smile
And say "Thy will be done," sincere and true.
And give me work this empty heart to do.

—His wife, Ruth.

GUSTAFSON—In loving memory of our father, Sig., who died a year ago.

He never failed to do his best,
His heart was true and tender;
He toiled hard for those he loved
Then left us to remember.

—From his boys.

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

In the Jacoby transfer bid the response of two diamonds to the opening no-trump shows a heart suit and demands that the opener rebid in hearts. The two-heart response shows a spade suit and demands a spade rebid while the two-spade response is the transfer to clubs and the three-club response the transfer to diamonds.

If responder wants to play the hand in diamonds, hearts or spades he can bid three immediately in that suit. These last responses are all made with strong hands only and are game-forcing bids.

Now take a look at the North hand. Your partner opens one no-trump and you see that the hand will do better in hearts than in no-trump. If you are playing normal bidding with two hearts as a sign-off you can bid two hearts but sometimes your partner won't respect your sign-off. Playing the transfer bid you simply bid two diamonds. Your partner bids two hearts dutifully and is annoyed when you pass but pleased when he sees the dummy.

South will make two or maybe even three hearts. West has to open something and his lead will cost him a trick. If North is declarer East will open the queen of diamonds and set the hand against any normal method of play.

T.V. with Lee

Garry Moore Hosts Rudy Vallee, Benny Goodman, Julie London at 9

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

CHATTER—Jack Oakie is said to be in the running for the new "Fat Man" series, now on the books for Screen Gems . . . they are going to try out Mike Todd Jr.'s "smellovision" in a Chicago theatre soon. The first of the smellies will be called "Scent of Mystery"—as though some of them aren't smelly enough!!!

Although the final figures aren't in yet, it is believed that the pro football finals between the Baltimore Colts and New York Giants attracted some 50 million viewers. Even so it will doubtless post the highest rating of any sports event ever telecast aside from a heavyweight championship fight. . . .

"Steve Canyon" has been renewed, with the option pickup assuring the show will be on through the summer (repeats of course) . . . Cheyenne's one-time Clint Walker has reportedly buried the axe with Warner Brothers after being suspended last season by the studio over a money hassle. . . .

. James Donald, suffering from pleurisy, has bowed out of the cast of the NBC-TV Jan. 18 special, "Ten Little Indians." He has been replaced by Kenneth Haigh . . . John Kerr will star in the NBC-TV Hallmark Hall of Fame special, "Berkley Square," set for Feb. 5 . . . the ABC-TV Donna Reed Show will expand its cast, adding a neighboring pair, Kathleen Freeman and Howard McNear . . . the NBC-TV Bell Telephone Hour musical special for Feb. 10 will offer Duke Ellington, Ella Fitzgerald, Rise Stevens, Martha Wright and the New York City Ballet. . . .

"Yes, we do anything to keep the cows contented!"

It's also reported that Guy Williams of ABC-TV's Zorro has bought a 37-foot ketch and plans to take a trip to Easter Island in the Pacific . . . Wagon Train is the new champion of the TV rating services, edging out perennial topper Gunsmoke by four points in the latest Nielsen report. Some of the credit, it's believed, is due to newcomer "Cimarron City" which is opposite "Gunsmoke" and winning away thousands. . . .

WELL, THAT'S ALL FOR NOW. For the next two weeks I'll be away on some overdue vacations. The column during that time will be in the capable hands of Times' Mike Rose, a nice fellah who enjoys TV and talking about it. A low bow to him and a God bless to you.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 7, 1959

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—The ideal day to do much research work, studying at library, from printed matter, your paper, TV, etc. Your mind is very receptive, and much of the information you store up now will prove invaluable in the near future. Be well informed, succeed.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—By going after the support you need from others, whether financial or emotional, you can acquire that all-important feeling of security. Contact the greatest experts, and with your mind at ease, you can then know real happiness.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—See that you converse quite at length with all those who are important to your scheme of living at present, for thereby will come true co-operation and many fine ideas for success. Don't consider today's talk a waste of time.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)—Imperative you continue to work diligently at chores awaiting your immediate attention so that you will be free of them quickly. Good day to tone up your system by proper diet, exercise, too, and to get your wardrobe in order. Work.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—You have the need to confide in someone today. Go to the person you love the most and unburden yourself, and you will emerge a happy person and get excellent advice. Be devoted. P.M. spend a delightful evening together having fun.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Don't take offence when a devoted member of family tries to spur you on to greater achievement. You have been operating and thinking rather narrowly and are capable of far greater attainments. Follow ideas and be grateful instead.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Be sure to do any important errand or shopping in a.m. Then you have time to ferret out the data that is so urgent for you to have right now. Be above board and to the point.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Determine to find out what is worrisome and wrong in your business affairs. You can then intelligently iron out troubles and make long-range plans for successful operating. Work hard, but take no unnecessary chances.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Sit down a while today and think out what you truly want out of life. Are you getting as much out of it and accomplishing all that you once dreamed of? If not, there is no better moment than now to turn failure into success.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—It would be the very highest, noblest thing today to react toward your loved ones in such a fashion that they will be thoroughly convinced of your loyalty and devotion. Gain their love and respect and this will be a blessing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Getting together with trusted comrade or the right group toward some corporate venture today will prove most successful. Then in p.m. you can have a delightful time and be in the very highest spirits. Be alive, happy.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—Through own merit, you have a wonderful backer in business affairs. Think of some way in which you can show your gratitude. This will cement even better relations and you gain a real friend as well as increased support.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN WEDNESDAY . . .

The hardy little individual born Wednesday is the type who must always learn by doing, though it is often the most painful way to gain knowledge and stand on own feet. However, your youngster's word is his or her bond, and this is one of the greatest attributes of life. Give as fine an education as possible, especially in fields of philosophy and geometry. Your progeny will go far in life and travel much.

FOR YOUR COPY of Carroll Righter's individual 16-page Forecast for February send your birth date and 50 cents in coin to Carroll Righter Forecast, Victoria Daily Times, Box 1895, Grand Central Station, New York 17, N.Y.

SEOUL (AP) — A government spokesman said today that President Syngman Rhee will run for a fourth term next year. Rhee will be 84 next March and has been South Korea's only president since the republic was founded in 1948. The presidential election is expected about May, 1960, when Rhee will be 85.

Railroad Finances Review Urged by Ex-Commissioner

OTTAWA (CP) — Clarence D. Shepard, just retired as chief of the board of transport commissioners, suggests the government must take a new look at railroad finances.

Specifically, western Shepard has committed Prairie heresy by saying there should be an assessment of how the railways make out on the low "Crowsnest Pass" freight rates on grain in the west, a source of railway grumbling for many years.

Free to talk out as he heads for a private business job reputed to pay about $75,000 a year, the 44-year-old Mr. Shepard also indicated in an interview that he doesn't think much of the cabinet's reported proposal of a federal subsidy to ease freight rate discrimination.

Nor does he put much stock in claims by the railways that they are unduly hampered by federal regulation in meeting competition from other carriers not as closely controlled by rate-setting boards.

OIL COMPANY POST

Mr. Shepard, who was persuaded by Liberal prime minister St. Laurent to leave a lucrative Winnipeg law practice to take on the $18,500-a-year board post in early 1957, quit at the year end to become chief counsel for British American Oil Company in Toronto.

He has been succeeded by Rod Kerr, 56, Cape Breton-born former general counsel of the board, named assistant chief commissioner last fall.

Asked in a farewell interview about the Crowsnest rates on grain, a subject of western preoccupation for a half century, Mr. Shepard said:

"The time has come to assess whether they are at a proper level.

"This is not to say that they should be taken away from the control of Parliament or increased. But the railways should be adequately compensated for hauling the grain."

The Crowsnest rate investigations hould be carried out by a body—presumably a royal commission —which the government proposes to set up to investigate railway matters.

A railway claim is that the Crowsnest rates are not remunerative and should be turned loose under control of the board of transport commissioners rather than being held at pre-1900 levels by a 1925 parliamentary statute. Western interests fight this suggestion vigorously.

Of the cabinet's rumored plan to ease regional freight rate "discrimination" by giving subsidies to the eastern and western provinces, Mr. Shepard's comment was:

"I've yet to see a subsidy the payment of which has resulted in a long-term solution to any problem."

DAG'S REFUGEE TOUR CUT BY DEMONSTRATION

AMMAN, Jordan (Reuters) — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold of the United Nations Sunday cut short a tour of refugee camps after a peaceful demonstration by 2,000 Palestine Arab refugees.

Now on a Middle East and West African tour, he was visiting one of the camps in the Biblical town of Jericho, 30 miles west of here, when the demonstration was staged.

"We want to return to our beloved country—we shall march to Palestine," many of the demonstrators shouted.

34 Die as Mobs Erupt in Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (AP)—Thirty-four persons are reported killed and about 100 severely injured so far in two days of rioting in Leopoldville, the Belgian Congo capital.

Shops have been set on fire, Roman Catholic missions ransacked, and schools and police headquarters burned out.

Europeans have been stoned and shot at and mission priests have been beaten by the rioting Africans.

Most of the dead were believed to be Africans shot by police or troops.

A state of siege has been proclaimed, and jeep loads of troops armed with machine-guns are patrolling the main avenue of the city's large African sector.

Barbed wire barricades are being set up. Firearms are being distributed to the European population.

Road blocks have been set up around the Leopoldville area. Movement across the river from Brazzaville, in French Equatorial Africa, is stopped.

The riots started Sunday. Late Monday night the sound of automatic weapon fire was still heard.

ROADBLOCKS SET UP

Troop reinforcements patrolling in armored cars and barbed wire roadblocks brought at least partial order. But the situation remained highly explosive because native leaders apparently had lost control of the masses.

The riots started Sunday with a political meeting of Congolese at which future independence for the Congo was mentioned. The crowd started shouting: "We want independence now."

The crowd began dispersing but grew into a large mob that started setting up road blocks and stoning European-driven cars.

FOR POST OF MAYORESS

Mayor Would Pick His Wife; Who Else?

Mayor Percy Scurrah Monday laughingly said he would nominate his wife for the position of mayoress if he ever has to recommend the appointment.

Ald. M. H. Mooney chuckled: "I can see quite easily why you said that, seeing that Mrs. Scurrah is here."

(Mrs. Scurrah was one of three persons who turned out for city council's 1959 inaugural meeting.)

The repartee arose when council referred a suggestion from Charles J. Kidd, 2423 Beach Drive, to finance committee.

Mr. Kidd said in Great Britain a woman automatically was appointed mayoress by a council on recommendation of the new mayor.

The mayor usually recommended his wife, Mr. Kidd added — prompting Mayor Percy Scurrah's quip.

The proposed library agreement will be discussed by intermunicipal committee at its next meeting aldermen were told after a letter from the library board seeking information on the status of the agreement—which has been going through municipal channels for four years—was read.

A certificate of merit sent to Victoria by the B.C. Centennial Committee was accepted and will be framed and hung in City Hall.

Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson curtly informed self-conscious colleagues that residents and staff of Mountain View Home were delighted when the mayor and she visited the old men's home during its Christmas dinner.

Prior to the event she had appealed to all aldermen to attend the dinner instead of leaving it to the mayor and herself.

School Trustees' Chairman Named For Second Year

Mrs. W. W. McGill, appointed to the Greater Victoria school board by Education Minister Leslie Peterson this year, was elected board chairman for her second term Monday.

Mrs. McGill failed to run for re-election this year but was appointed when no other nominees for the Saanich seat came forth.

The board's inaugural meeting also re-elected trustee Kenneth Leeming as vice-chairman.

Main business of the year will be completion of the $1,150,000 school building program, the board indicated at its first meeting.

HE'S OPTIMISTIC ABOUT HIS 'BABY'

Patented Gas-Saving Device Disclosed by Qualicum Man

QUALICUM — The inventor of a patented device designed to cut car fuel consumption believes his creation poses a major threat to oil companies.

John Perepolkin, 47, of Bond Road, Qualicum, has made public his 12-year-old "baby" after taking out U.S. patent No. 2,853,988 and having applied for a Canadian patent.

Already three persons have tried to buy the device's patent, but Mr. Perepolkin said he won't make any hasty moves until given what he thinks is the best offer.

Only 35 per cent of gasoline which passes through a car's combustion chamber is used, says Perepolkin, while the other 65 per cent is wasted as carbon-monoxide or heat dissipation.

STARVES MOTOR

The inventor notes the air throttling device used in modern gasoline engines known as the gas throttle starves the motor of oxygen, which is necessary for complete fuel combustion by resisting the flow of intake air to the combustion chamber.

With the attachment of Mr. Perepolkin's invention, this throttling device is eliminated, providing an unrestricted open passageway for the intake air charge to the cylinder.

Mr. Perepolkin, who has been working on the invention since 1943, says he dreamed up the idea after taking a diesel engineering course. He started experimenting with his 1937 Chrysler.

Driver Received Blow on Head; Charge Dismissed

A charge of impaired driving against S. R. Halton, Cadboro Court, was dismissed by Magistrate Henry Hall in police court this morning.

The charge arose out of an accident Dec. 4 when Mr. Halton's car struck a lamp standard on Quadra Street.

Mr. Halton suffered a severe blow on the head in the mishap.

In dismissing the charge, the magistrate said that while the police and Dr. E. L. McNiven had given evidence of drinking, two doctors called by the defence, Dr. Alan F. McGill and Dr. D. E. Alcorn, had testified that the accused suffered from concussion and a minor skull fracture which would have created symptoms similar to those of drunkenness. This raised a question of doubt.

Alan Bigelow appeared for the defence.

$900,000 Sawmill at Nanaimo To Start Production in March

NANAIMO — Rajindi Mayo, president of the Mayo Lumber Company, said here Monday a $900,000 sawmill will go into production in Nanaimo in mid-March.

The sawmill may become the centre of a major industry for this Vancouver Island centre.

Mr. Mayo said construction would start about Jan. 12 and the sawmill will be in operation two months later.

He said the mill, however, was just the first stage of a planned new Mayo operation, eventually to become an integrated forest products plant, with the main product being hardboard.

The mill will occupy a 12-acre site south of here.

NANAIMO — A 12-man delegation direct from Nanaimo to Communist China would be one way to get action from Ottawa on the matter of unemployment, Alistair MacLeod suggested to Nanaimo area labor union delegates.

Mr. MacLeod called for what he termed a "new approach" to the problem of unemployment by organizing a union of the unemployed.

"The work is there," the labor spokesman said, "the problem is how to get it going.

"Why bother with any more briefs and resolutions? Why not organize the unemployed, short-circuit Ottawa and send a 12-man delegation direct from Nanaimo to China to see if it would be possible to turn up orders from China."

* * *

NANAIMO — Dr. Lewis Anderson, medical health officer for Upper Vancouver Island, will assume dual duties as medical officer of Central Vancouver Island, it was learned today.

Former Central Vancouver Island medical officer, Dr. E. W. R. Best, resigned his post at year's end.

* * *

NANAIMO — Five school trustees starting new terms with the board will take oaths of office tonight, after which a new chairman will be elected to replace Mrs. W. E. Ricker.

* * *

LADYSMITH — The twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Smith, born here New Year's Day at 12.02 and 12.04 were presented with silver mugs by the Ladysmith Chapter, Registered Nurses' Association of B.C.

Chapter president, Mrs. Elizabeth Ulaga, made the presentation.

* * *

PARKSVILLE — Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith and their four children escaped early Sunday after waking to find their $15,000 home in flames.

Gerry, seven, awakened coughing from smoke and roused the rest of the family. They saved only a few articles of clothing.

The 12-room frame house, a landmark in the Beaver Creek area about three miles south of here, burned to the ground in about 20 minutes. Loss was partially covered by insurance.

Police said the fire started from a heater in the back hall.

PORT ALBERNI — Robert Adderley was installed Monday as the new president of the Port Alberni and District Chamber of Commerce.

He succeeds Kenneth Hutcheson.

TOFINO—A one and a half-weeks old Indian infant, child of Mr. and Mrs. William Ambrose, was in satisfactory condition in hospital here today after the transport department lifeboat battled a blinding snowstorm and gale winds Monday to bring the child from Hot Springs Cove to Tofino.

Its ailment was not disclosed.

GARAGEMAN NAMED TO POLICE BOARD

Chester Dowman, well known city garage operator, Monday was appointed to the city police commission and Gordon Carter, his predecessor, was appointed to the Oak Bay police commission.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

So far Mr. Briggs has covered only five chapters of a 22-chapter brief and is expected to be on the stand until Friday.

He will be followed by H. H. Griffin, who resigned recently as a member of the power commission.

'SPORTS CAPITAL OF WORLD'

Mayor to Bid For 1963 Pan-Am Games

Mayor Percy Scurrah today said he will make a bid to have one of the world's major athletic events staged in Victoria.

"I'm going to write them and ask for their detailed requirements," he said after receiving an invitation to "tender" for selection of Victoria as the site of the 1963 Pan-American Games to be staged in Canada.

ALL GET CHANCE

All cities in Canada are being given an opportunity to vie for the honor. Invitations have been sent out by the Pan-American Games for Canada, a committee of the Olympic Games Association. Deadline for enquiries is Feb. 15.

The games will bring more than 2,000 athletes and coaches from all parts of North and South America for a 10-day meet in the city chosen as a site.

The winning city would become the sports capital of the world during the games, attracting an international gathering of spectators.

The impact of selection as a site would be as great as Vancouver's gain in being chosen as the site of the 1954 British Empire Games which brought it world-wide fame.

The Pan-American Games this year are being held in Chicago Aug. 27 to Sept. 7.

Mayor Scurrah said he will write immediately for specifications of the association's requirements and will consult with city officials and amateur sports officials to determine whether Victoria should present a brief outlining its advantages as a site.

Among the events held during the games are: track and field, gymnastics, swimming, polo, yachting, shooting, archery, riding, boxing, wrestling, fencing, baseball, soccer, basketball.

Istanbul Explosion Kills 30

ISTANBUL (AP) — Thirty persons were feared killed and 100 severely injured in a thunderous explosion this morning that shattered two crowded four-storey office buildings in old central Istanbul.

Three of the dead were passengers in a passing bus crushed by debris.

Another four died as they sat in a coffee shop across the narrow street from the blast.

Among the victims were passengers in a bus lumbering past the four-storey buildings when the blast went off. The rear half of the vehicle was crushed by falling debris.

Among the tenants in the buildings were the newspapers Istanbul Ekspres and Yeni Gazete.

One of the building owners said the explosion appeared to come from a warehouse in the rear in which chemicals and other inflammable goods were stored.

One of the two buildings was completely crumbled. The other, housing the newspapers, looked as if its back end had been sliced away.

The explosion occurred at the height of mid-morning traffic. Police cordoned off the area and diverted all traffic. Ninety minutes later victims still were being dug from the debris.

Prober Raps Big Mark-Up On B.C. Fruit

(See also Page 3)

Excessive and unreasonable mark-ups by some wholesalers and retailers handling fruit from British Columbia are strongly criticized in the report of a one-man royal commission investigating the British Columbia tree fruits industry.

In his report released Monday, Dr. Earl MacPhee said the mark-ups "are very difficult to believe, let alone accept as being reasonable."

"I have been shocked to discover the very high mark-ups being taken by retailers in some areas — small independents in Vancouver and some in Calgary and Winnipeg—in comparison with mark-ups being taken by some wholesalers and retailers elsewhere in western Canada," he said.

"Society can help here, and perhaps it is the only agency by which an unfair situation can be resolved. Our findings are being reported to the federal price spreads commission, but the solution to this problem lies in the hands of the retailers and the wholesalers concerned."

ROCHE PERCEE, Sask. (UPI) — A spectacular coal mine fire today caused an estimated $500,000 damage. No one was injured.

Brigitte for His Birthday? She's In Right Suit Anyway

LONDON (Reuters)—Offers are pouring in from all over Britain for a life-size, near-nude plastic statue of Brigitte Bardot that a London movie theatre wants to sell.

Here are some of the people who want the statue of the French actress wearing only the lower part of a bikini:

A woman would like it as a 21st birthday present for her son;

The national guard sergeants' mess at Birmingham, who claim they can give it a "good home";

A Worcestershire woman who hopes to use it as a scarecrow;

Miss Marianne Hawkins of Birmingham who wants to present it to her fiance who "must be Brigitte's most ardent admirer";

A penniless artist near London who says his town is narrow-minded and he finds it "difficult to get nude models."

Everyone apparently wants the statute — except Brigitte herself. She has refused it because "it cheapens me."

Threat to Berlin Softened By Mikoyan in U.S. Talks

THREE GENERATIONS OF CHURCHILLS

She'd Share Baby With Kidnapper

NEW YORK (AP) — The mother of a kidnapped infant girl pleaded for the safe return of the baby today and offered to share the child with the abductor.

The kidnapper is believed to be a frustrated mother.

"If she loves the baby that much and would return her to us I would even be willing to let her visit the baby periodically," said Mrs. Frances Chionchio, 26, from her hospital bed.

"I would be willing to appeal to the kidnapper on a woman-to-woman basis. If she would call the hospital, I would speak to her on the telephone."

Police still held hope the baby, stolen from a hospital nursery Friday night, might still be alive.

Some of the baby's garments were found Saturday in a vacant store in Brooklyn.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Bless, O Lord, the leaders of our nation. Give them wisdom to choose rightly among the frightening alternatives that face the world. Give them, we pray, courage to make the hard decisions, to choose the thing that is true rather than the thing that is smooth. In our day, O God, may honest leaders find honest support among honest citizens; in Jesus' name. Amen.

New Freight Hike Bid Underway by Railways

OTTAWA (CP) — The railways today moved to obtain another freight rate increase of an unspecified amount.

The last increase—17 per cent—went into effect Dec. 1 after a fight before the federal cabinet which refused an appeal against the increase entered by eight provinces. That boost was designed to cover the cost of a wage settlement with railway employees.

Today the railways served notice on the Board of Transport Commissioners that they would apply Jan. 12 for a date for hearings on their new application. The application was contained originally in one filed during September. At that time the railways asked for an increase to cover wage costs and also a later one of an indeterminate amount to cover general operating costs.

It is this second part which the railways now seek to have heard by the board.

They told the board today they will also ask it on Jan. 12 to set a date for them to advise the board the amounts of the proposed new increase.

The new application said it is estimated that the 1958 net rail income of the "yardstick" CPR will show a deficiency of more than $17,000,000 below the $51,000,000 permitted the company by the transport board. The estimate for 1959 was for a deficiency of more than $10,000,000.

The last rate increase of 17 per cent, amounting to some $60,000,000 a year, was upheld by the cabinet Nov. 26, thus averting a threatened Dec. 1 general rail strike.

U.S. Trade Talks Go 'Very Nicely'

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian and American cabinet ministers today completed another four hours of private talks and U.S. Treasury Secretary Robert Anderson said at the noon adjournment: "Things are moving very nicely."

The eight cabinet ministers—five from Canada and three from the U.S.—adjourned for a luncheon at the suburban Rockcliffe home of U.S. Ambassador Richard Wigglesworth.

Finance Minister Fleming, heading the economic talks, said that all points in a long agenda had been completed at the morning session, except for one item which would be discussed in the afternoon. A communique was to be issued late today.

As the first three-hour round of talks ended Monday night at midnight, Mr. Fleming emerged with a smile and told reporters progress was made, amicably, on both sides.

The ministers and some 24 advisers were participating in the fourth session of the joint Canada-U.S. committee on trade and economic affairs set up in 1953.

Mr. Fleming said initial discussions were of a general nature, dealing with the North American and world economic outlook. Conclusions reached were "heartening."

There have been reports that Canada expressed a wish that the U.S. would use its influence to heal the trade split between France and Britain, but Mr. Fleming maintained that discussions did not go specifically that far. Because of the private nature of discussions, he declined to spell out details.

There also were reports that Canada sought American views on the pursuit of world trade agreements in which both Russia and Communist China could participate, but here again there was no official indication of how far discussions went or what conclusions had been reached.

Today's sessions of the talks were to deal with American oil curbs and Canada's hopes to have them removed; American criticism of Canada's anti-dumping laws and Canadian criticism of the American anti-trust suit against American electronics manufacturers operating a patents pool in Canada.

West Promised Access to City

(From Times News Services)

WASHINGTON — High officials said today that Soviet deputy premier Anastas I. Mikoyan in his talks here appears to be backing down on Russia's Berlin demands.

Mikoyan, who met Monday with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and dined with congressional and business leaders, was reported to have assured officials that Russia was willing to promise continued Allied access to the Communist-encircled city when the Russians turn over control of their sector and the supply lines to the East German Communists June 1.

Mikoyan was understood to have told high-level state department, business and congressional leaders Monday night:

1. Russia is determined to turn over administration of East Berlin to the East German Communist regime, regardless of U.S.-British-French denunciation of this plan.

2. Russia is not trying to throw the Allies out of West Berlin, even though Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, in his Nov. 27 note, suggested withdrawal of all Allied troops from the city.

NO WESTERN PLAN

3. Russia feels the time has come, 13 years after the end of the war, to give Berlin a new status.

4. The United States, Britain and France, in replying last week to Khrushchev's note, were remiss in not coming up with some counterproposal which might have provided the basis for negotiation.

5. The Soviet decision to hand East Berlin over to East Germany by May in no way implies a peace-or-war ultimatum; continued free access to Berlin, 110 miles inside East Germany, could be arranged, and a role may be found for the United Nations to play in guaranteeing this.

The 63-year-old Mikoyan, second in Kremlin power only to Khrushchev, laid these cards on the table in replying to questions at a dinner for him by Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America.

PICKETS SCREAM

Hovering outside were about 50 anti-Communist pickets, refugees from Iron Curtain countries. Sparked by former freedom fighters in Hungary's abortive 1956 revolt against Communism, they brandished placards, shook fists and screamed in cadence: "Mik-o-yan the mur-der-er!"

Mikoyan and his party paid no attention to the pickets. Neither did the 48 other guests.

Monday Mikoyan also conferred for 95 minutes with State Secretary Dulles at the state department, primarily about Berlin.

Johnston released quotations from Mikoyan's formal address to the diners. Mikoyan was quoted as saying:

"We think there should be more contacts at all levels—from the lowest to the highest. And in order not to spend years in trying to work out an agenda, it is best to meet without one. I think that is where we are heading . . ."

COMING TO OTTAWA?

Meanwhile in Ottawa both the external affairs department and the Soviet Embassy said today they could shed no light on reports that Mikoyan may make a "tourist" visit to Canada following his current United States tour.

WEATHER BACK ON EVEN KEEL AFTER UPSET

Victoria is back to normal winter weather after a five-inch fall of snow Sunday night which snarled traffic all day Monday.

Forecast is for overnight temperatures hovering above the freezing point, rising to 40 Wednesday. There will be clouds, partial clearing, and showers of rain.

There may be occasional snow mixed with the rain.

Winter Keeps Chill Grip On Canada

(From Times News Services)

Winter retained a chilling grip on Canada today. In some areas snow joined with bitter cold in the continuing onslaught.

The Yukon—where Dawson hit 59 degrees below zero and Snag 57 below — headed a parade of sub-zero temperatures which reached into every province except Newfoundland.

Fresh snow was in prospect today for northern Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, parts of Ontario and Quebec and the Maritimes.

NEW YORK—Winter's most severe cold wave numbed the eastern half of the United States today but some relief from the icy blasts appeared on the way from the Rockies to the mid-continent.

At the same time, stormy weather which pounded sections in the west diminished. Strong winds, rain and snow Monday swept through the Pacific states southward through the intermountain region to southern California.

The cold was blamed for at least 44 deaths in 14 states.

LONDON—Rain and milder weather thawed out the southern half of ice-bound Britain during the night, turning frozen snow on main roads into slush and causing some flooding.

Fog followed the end of the freeze-up along the south coast.

Natural Gas Kills Foreman

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (CP)—One man was killed and four injured today when struck down by natural gas during installation of an underground safety valve. All were city employees.

Dead is Walter N. Cowan, 39, gas crew foreman.

The men were installing a safety valve on a low-pressure gas line feeding houses in the southwest area of the city. There was no shutoff on the one-inch pipe and when the old valve was removed the men were struck by a force of gas.

Rocket Bingo on First Try As Soviet Shot Nears Orbit

(Times News Services)

MOSCOW—A top Soviet scientist said today the Russians successfully fired their moon rocket the first time they tried.

Prof. Anatoly Blagonravov, head of the technical sciences department of the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences, said the shot launched Friday was the first of its kind ever tried in Russia.

The Soviet cosmic rocket has practically entered orbit today as the solar system's first artificial planet.

The 1½-ton projectile is more than 500,000 miles from the earth and streaking on to start its circling of the sun, Vice-President Alexander Topchiev of the Soviet Academy of Sciences told reporters.

Topchiev said the rocket at the time of his 4 p.m. (5 a.m. PST) press conference was 497,097 miles from the earth and 310,686 miles beyond the moon, which it passed Sunday at a speed of more than 5,000 miles an hour.

Topchiev called the creation and launching of the rocket "a triumph of human genius which for the first time has succeeded in overcoming the force of terrestrial gravitation."

Blagonravov said the scientific results obtained from the experiment will be made available to international science as soon as it has been analyzed.

"There isn't a spot in the universe today which could not be reached by rocket," he said.

"This would of course require time," he said, "But the wait will not be long now."

Taxes Going Up?

THE OTTAWA CORRESPONDENTS are forecasting an increase in federal taxes this year. It may well be necessary. For the Government cannot go on piling up a deficit of something over a billion dollars annually without grave consequences, already apparent.

If business improves this year as seems certain, the yield of existing tax rates will automatically increase, but it cannot increase sufficiently to bring the budget under reasonable control. The Government's gigantic commitments have gone too far for that.

It reckoned its deficit in the last budget at about $700 millions. This may turn out to be an accurate estimate according to the Government's bookkeeping methods but it is irrelevant to our real situation today.

The relevant fact—however the expenditures may be described in the ledger—is that the Government is spending in total something like $100 millions a month more than it collects. And these borrowings have driven down the price of Government bonds, raised interest rates and compelled the Government to inflate the currency.

As The Financial Post says, the money supply and the national debt are both 12 per cent larger now than they were when Mr. Diefenbaker took office—an alarming change in only 18 months.

The immediate inflation of money and the potential inflation, temporarily disguised by debt, cannot safely be allowed to continue much longer. Hence the Government is compelled, contrary to all its promises, to consider an increase in taxes when it had planned to reduce them by half a billion dollars a year.

It will be humiliating for the Government and painful for the taxpayers to face a tax increase but the alternative of huge borrowings, higher interest rates, higher prices and financial derangement is worse.

The parliamentary debates about to open in Ottawa will present these things in many confusing versions, all tinged with partisan politics. Actually they are quite simple.

The present Government promised and the people by a large majority approved a stupendous increase in expenditure and rejected a former Government which was unwilling to undertake such a policy. It was obvious to anyone who looked at the figures that this policy would involve higher taxes sooner or later, that the promise of tax reductions was mathematically absurd.

This would have been true to a lesser or greater degree even without a business recession and a fall in revenues. Now that revenues have fallen the deficit is far larger than the present Government foresaw and the consequent borrowings are the chief cause of monetary inflation.

What is chiefly needed under these conditions is a reduction in spending or at least an end to the recent increases. It seems unlikely, however, that the Government will economize and over a wide area increased spending is unavoidable since fixed costs—such as interest payments and social services—continue to grow.

To have an increase in taxes may be unavoidable when the Government is no longer able to sell its bonds at a reasonable price to a reluctant investment market and dare not, or at any rate should not, resort to more printing-press money.

A Ridiculous Strike

NEW YORK NEWSPAPER presses are rolling again, after one of the most bizarre strikes in history.

The walkout was called by the Mail Deliverers' Union which rejected a publishers' offer of a $7-a-week wage boost over a two-year period. There are something like 5,000 men in the union. Of the 1,600 who voted, about 850 were in favor of a strike and 750 against.

Thus, by a margin of 100, the Deliverers (ironic term!) were able to tie up newspaper service for a city of 8,000,000 for 19 days.

Other unions refused to cross picket lines, but also refused to support the Deliverers financially. Some 15,000 newspaper employees were laid off, losing an estimated $4,000,000 in wages. Because the strike was called during the Christmas season, when advertising is heavy, an estimated $30,000,000 in revenue was lost to New York's nine dailies.

Radio and TV attempted to fill the void, but proved inadequate. Sales fell sharply. Funeral notices, births, meetings, court reports and all the other routine details of day-to-day living which newspapers cover went unannounced, causing considerable embarrassment, confusion, and even distress.

And what was the ultimate resolution of the strike? By a little shuffling of the original offer, the union got a raise of $3.55 the first year, $1.75 the second, an extra paid holiday and three days' paid sick leave—all of which adds up to approximately the same proposal as the publishers offered before Christmas.

Results: 15,000 families jobless over the holiday; $34,000,000 in revenue and wages down the drain; 8,000,000 subscribers deprived of news for three weeks. We trust the union bosses are proud of themselves.

No Vote for Swiss Miss

THE SWISS, WHOSE WILLIAM Tell knew how to cope with the apple better than Adam, are not falling for Eve's blandishments when it comes to politics.

In Switzerland for the last 1,000 years the lady and the ballot have been strangers. From current appearances they will remain that way for some time to come. The Swiss male thinks the Swiss female does very well without the vote. Oddly enough, and contrary to the earnest hopes and aspirations of the suffragettes, so do a lot of Swiss women.

In 1957 the Swiss Federal Council—the country's seven-man collegiate government — adopted a message to Parliament advocating votes for women in federal affairs and the right of women to be candidates.

That year the Council of States, the upper chamber, approved the plan by a narrow majority and the lower house, the National Council, gave the plan wider majority support last March.

But the scheme now must go to the whole electorate and the electorate is all-male.

Moreover the anti-votes for women faction has matched the suffragettes in campaigns on the issue, has, indeed, established a Special All-Women Antivote Committee with headquarters in the Roman Catholic centre of Lucerne. The special committee argues that women are happy enough without the franchise and would rather be the power behind the vote than actual voters.

In a country considered as enlightened as Switzerland this appears an odd situation. But perhaps only on the surface.

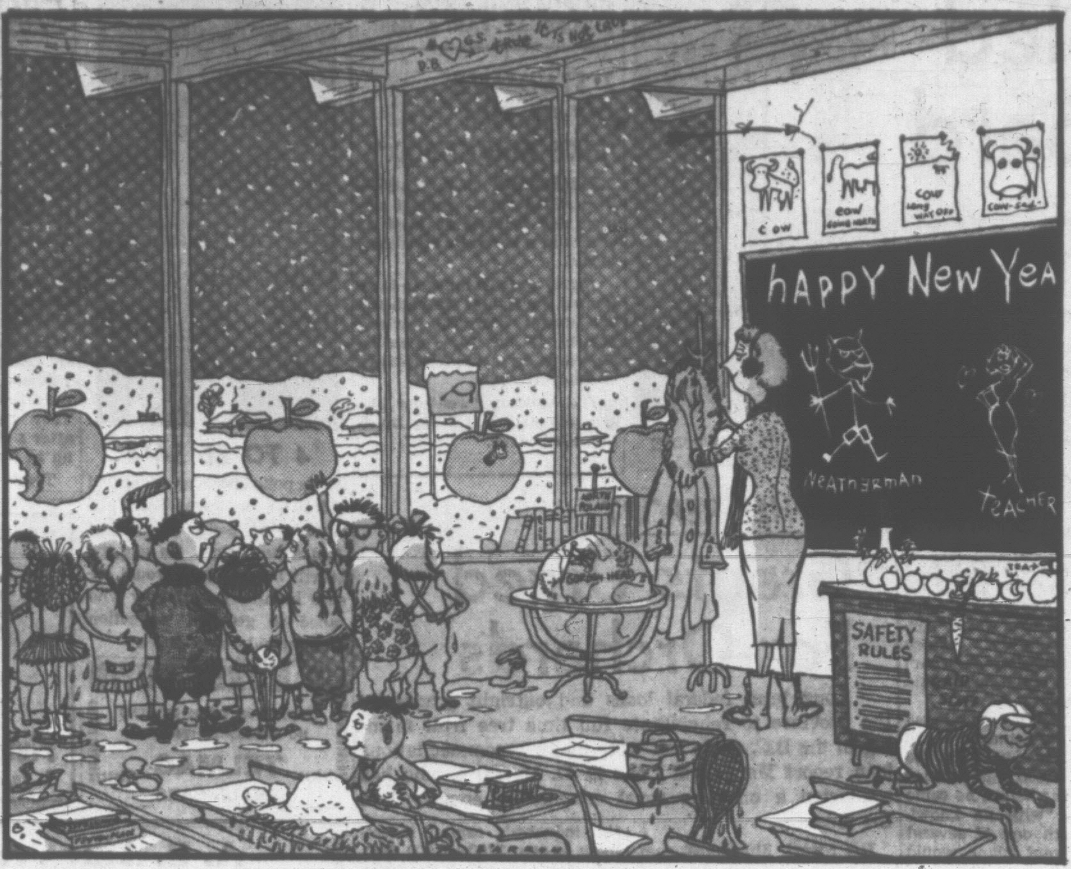
Eventually the Swiss women will get the franchise. Then they will be in the happy position of people in Canada. The next step in political evolution, we presume, will be to recognize the vote for what it is worth—which is exactly nothing to more than half the people at municipal elections in Greater Victoria.

And Then, of Course . . .

WITH DISASTROUS DEFEATS in the first two of the "down-under" test matches, England's cricket representatives have come in for some scathing criticism at home. English newsmen travelling with the team on its Australian campaign have blamed late nights and too much attention to beach belles for their countrymen's poor showing.

The team has been charged with romancing while away from home; on the other hand the team captain has been criticized for not having his mind on the game because his fiancee is in the stands.

Perhaps all such causes play a part in the current cricket debacle. But there is one other possible reason which comes to mind. How about the Australian team, which is in there trying to beat the visitors?



"Nobody up there like us over the holidays . . .?

LOOSE ENDS

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Beware Pandora's Empty Box

THE harassed parents and grandparents of Canada will join fervently in the congratulations offered by the editors of Harper's Magazine to the American manufacturers of Wheat Chex, a breakfast food which is "guaranteed to contain no premiums, no whistles, missiles, rockets or ruckus . . . no strings, rings or things attached." Surely the genius of the Wheat Chex makers should not go unrecognized. They have hit on the earth-shaking discovery that breakfast food is breakfast food and not a method of amusing the young. If this excellent precedent is followed by other manufacturers, two generations of parents and grandparents may be able to see their way at last through that avalanche of premiums, presents and paraphernalia which makes every modern house look like a toy store after cyclone and earthquake.

Hutchison

THE news of Wheat Chex, however, is not the only news of North American progress. Some time ago a New York genius invented a taxi cab which contains no radio. It is said, though I haven't been able to track it down, that a building contractor of far-ranging imagination, I think in Sarnia, has actually devised a new bungalow which is not wired for television. Science marches on.

The possibilities of the new age are practically unlimited. Next thing you know, some daring designer in Detroit will devise an automobile without an extra ton of useless metal protruding in all directions for the sole purpose of colliding with lamp posts and increasing repair bills.

One can visualize, at first dimly, the car of the future stripped of its hideous fishtail fenders, a car instead of a land-locked marine creature, actually small enough to be parked on a city street and perhaps not containing quite enough power to run a sawmill.

COMES the revolution, in an even more vital department of life, and you may be able to buy a carrot or a prune instead of a glittering gem wrapped and bedizened like the Crown jewels of England.

It will take a lot more research, no doubt, and laborious agricultural experiment, but we may yet see a cauliflower which is a vegetable and not a work of art, a cabbage intended for eating and not ornamentation, a bunch of radishes fashioned as a humble item of diet and not as an exhibit of Canadian art, a turnip which will be horticultural instead of cultural.

BUT these improvements must come slowly lest too sudden a change upset the primitive public eye, stomach and mind.

The public eye has been so conditioned to crude embellishment (as savages wear feathers and tattoo their bodies) that a carrot, a car or a breakfast food in its natural state would be too great a shock.

We are not strong or civilized enough yet to look a cauliflower or a piece of machinery in the face. A cabbage in the nude would shock the respectable housewife who never blushes at a human nude in an art gallery. An automobile designed simply for transportation and within the financial means of the ordinary citizen would be too much for his nerves at first sight. A breakfast food without a toy space ship or miniature atomic cannon in the box would disrupt the average household.

For the same reasons of caution I would be opposed to the premature introduction of bread into the nation's diet after a generation of substitutes, and would warn the pork industry not to produce real ham which the uneducated public stomach could hardly tolerate without a systematic course of training.

These dangers are not imminent. The imminent danger is the drastic innovation of Wheat Chex minus whistles, missiles, rockets or ruckus, with no strings, rings or things attached. A new American Revolution of the young may well ensue when they find only food on their morning plates.

CONCERNING which Dr. Brock Chisholm has lately issued another of his dire warnings. He says children should be taught that parents are not always good and right but sometimes bad and wrong.

Now, I happen to consider Dr. Chisholm a great man but in this case I think he is unnecessarily worried, as he used to be about Santa Claus. The children of my acquaintance have just the opposite idea. Born skeptics, they find it difficult to believe that parents are ever right. And if there are no premiums in the box that opinion will be finally confirmed.

It's unlikely, though. Born cowards and conformists, parents won't buy breakfast food without whistles, missiles and rockets, or cars without stylish and monstrous swellings.

As Our Readers See It

Chest Critic

Neither in Victoria nor in Vancouver did the Community Chests reach their objectives.

It has been proposed to get a professional collector—a sort of high pressure salesman—to manage the collection in Victoria next year. That will mean added expenses.

The reason for the public's failure to give what was expected of it, is probably due to many people preferring to give to charities that they know rather than to unknown ones. Probably not 80 per cent, nor even 90 per cent know who the beneficiaries are, and in what proportions, for whom funds are solicited.

The list of beneficiaries, with percentages received, should be published and made generally known to the public. The whole matter of what organizations are to benefit, and in what proportions, should be revised and brought in keeping with the ideas of the community. Perhaps there will then be more interest in the fund and a better response to the appeal.

CITIZEN

(Editor's Note: Chest distribution figures are made available to the press immediately after the board of directors has approved them in March. Chest books are always open to the public at Spencer House.)

Vital Industries

I wonder if any of your readers have noticed that the moment any international crisis, which might lead to a global war, takes place there is a simultaneous outbreak of strikes in some of the industries which would be vital to the safety and security of the member nations of the Commonwealth.

Metal production, transportation, communications and the like would all contribute to our safety and security in the event of a major conflict and our very survival could well depend upon their operation and yet the very moment that war clouds appear on the horizon crippling strikes and demoralization take place in these very industries.

It is not supposed for one instant that the rank and file of the workers in these industries would lend themselves to anything that would destroy their country in time of war but is it not possible that the real object of these strikes in the vital industries may be so carefully disguised and engineered by the master minds as to be unrecognizable by the ordinary worker.

The FBI has long ago shown that the vital industries have been infiltrated by carefully trained saboteurs whose object is to inflame the minds of the workers so that in the event of war the vital industries of the country would be in a complete state of disruption and disorganization.

The slogan of these people is "Divide and Conquer."

THINK IT OVER

The Need Continues

We, the committee of the Surplus Food Stall, wish to sincerely thank all citizens of Greater Victoria who have contributed so generously during 1958. We were enabled to hold a successful stall once each month during the year and provided hampers for 200 families, reaching a peak of 285 families for the December stall.

The donations of food have helped tremendously and the generous contributions of money have made it possible to buy meat, margarine and vegetables when needed, also candy, oranges, chicken, and roasts for Christmas time.

The outlook for 1959 is grim from the point of view of the number of family units needing assistance. However we have complete faith in the generosity of the people of Greater Victoria and know that we will be able to continue to supply hampers once a month to those whom the Family Welfare send to us.

Old Cards

Old Christmas cards are a great joy to the little children of Korea, who have so few pleasures. Victorians who have a supply are asked to send them to Old Xmas Cards, care of Dr. John N. Burgess, Central Post Office Box 63, Seoul, Korea.

Some donors cut away all but the pictures to save on postage, although some prefer to paste both sides of the cards together to make them firmer. Your contributions will be much appreciated.

Meaning of 'Convertible'

LONDON: From this week the pound sterling, the French franc, German mark, and most other European currencies are convertible into dollars at the official rates of exchange.

In the case of the franc the exchange rate has been altered by the devaluation announced on Saturday. But the right to convert European currencies into dollars will be limited. Sterling can only be freely exchanged throughout the world by holders who are not residents of the United Kingdom or of the sterling area. Similar provisions have been made by the other countries concerned.

The division between "official" and "transferable" sterling is abolished. From now on there is only one exchange rate for the pound, and all sterling holders outside the sterling area will be able to exchange pounds freely into any other currency just as holders of "American accounts" have been able to do until last week.

The important "free" markets for transferable sterling in Zurich and New York will inevitably move to London because there is no longer the attraction of getting sterling one or two pennies in the pound cheaper in the free market.

Gold Sales

Gold sales, too, will probably move largely to London. Sellers of gold, including the Soviet Government which has been disposing of substantial tonnages again this year, no longer get a premium by selling in Zurich.

The greatly increased business of the foreign exchange market and, to a smaller extent, the bullion market in the City of London will be one of the direct gains from the currency change.

The Treasury, in announcing the new policy on Saturday, emphasized that exchange control would be retained, and that there would be no immediate change of policy for residents of this country or the rest of the sterling area.

The Government will, however, continue the policy announced at the Montreal Commonwealth conference of relaxing restrictions.

This is likely to apply especially to import controls; now that sterling earned by any foreign exporter can be freely changed into dollars the logical reason for distinguishing between imports from the dollar area and from elsewhere has disappeared. The Government merely wants to proceed step by step in order to avoid any sudden increase in total imports.

This is a concerted European move. One gathers that the British Government first intended to take this step towards sterling convertibility soon after the New Delhi conference in October, when the Chancellor stated that this was Britain's objective.

Action Delayed

Action was put off in view of the delicate European negotiations that were then taking place. But at the O.E.E.C. meeting on December 15 the French Government suggested to the British representatives that it might be convenient to act together at Christmas.

The Germans, who had long been ready to join such a move, were at once brought in, and the other European countries were invited to join. It was realized that a joint move, besides being a demonstration of underlying European solidarity at a moment of friction, would also lessen the risks for individual currencies.

As agreed in August, 1955, the European Payments Union had to be terminated as soon as the main European currencies were made convertible. By Saturday evening nine governments representing 84 per cent of the E.P.U. quotas, had notified M. Rene Sergent, the secretary-general of O.E.E.C., that this was their intention. He thereupon brought the E.P.U. to an end and put the European Monetary agreement into effect. The change is binding on all seventeen member countries of O.E.E.C.

The main differences between E.P.U. and the new E.M.A. are that the former provided for unlimited temporary finance and for "automatic" credit for countries in deficit.

Monthly settlements had to be made as to 75 per cent in gold or dollars; the balance of 25 per cent was chalked up against a country's credit facilities.

Full Settlement

In fact most countries have been nearing the end of the credit limits and would have had to start soon settling 100 per cent in gold or dollars.

Under the new agreement most of the settlements between central banks will be done through the foreign exchange markets, because it has been made more advantageous to do so. Only small amounts are likely to be settled monthly through the settlement machinery.

A European fund of $600,000,000 will be formed as a source of credit for member countries in temporary difficulties. But such credit will be "discretionary," not automatic; it will no doubt be linked with advice or conditions as to financial policy.

The Treasury has explained that the E.P.U. could not continue once the rates for the major European currencies had been unified.

It is the government's considered view that the new regime will not expose sterling to any additional strain, even in any future period of pressure on the pound.

TIED UP

Human beings are strangely telepathic when it comes to matters of dress. I recall how my old friend, the late Constant Lambert, the musician, was one night conducting at Covent Garden, and during the interval he hurried out for refreshment. Just as he was sipping his glass of gin, a little man came up to him. "You are Constant Lambert," he said. "What makes you think that?" said Lambert. "Oh, I know," said the little man, "because you always wear a white tie." "You will notice," said Lambert, "that I am not wearing a white tie." "So I observed," said the little man.

Profit-Taking Hits Toronto, New York

Industrials and western oils recovered part of their early losses on the Toronto stock market today but the exchange remained down in moderate mid-afternoon trading.

Golds were hardest hit by the profit-taking that began with the opening.

Profit-taking on six straight advances to record highs put the New York market moderately lower today. Industrials backed away on a wide front. Steels, rubbers, aircrafts, coppers, oils and most chemicals were losers.

AT TORONTO—Trans-Mountain was the most active industrials for the second straight session, trading 15,000 shares. It gained ⅛ at 13⅝.

Imperial Life had the best gain, rising 7 points to 86. Steel Company of Canada led losers, off 1⅛ at 71⅛.

In golds, Hollinger dipped 1 at 32. International Nickel dipped ½ at 84½ but Noranda gained ½ at 54 among senior base metals.

In western oils Canadian Atlantic and Home Beach erased their losses while Calgary and Edmonton moved up ⅝ at 30⅝.

AT NEW YORK minus signs predominated in the Canadian list. International Nickel was off ⅞, Aluminium ½ and Canadian Pacific ⅛. Small advances were made by Granby Mining, McIntyre Porcupine and Walker-Gooderham.

On the American Stock Exchange the trend was higher. Shawinigan and Scurry Rainbow Oil were ahead among Canadian issues. Canadian Marconi and Jupiter Oils were lower.

AT LONDON gilt-edged securities claimed most of the limelight on the stock market today and under the impetus of a strong investment demand prices showed a further good improvement. Dollar stocks were irregular.

South African gold shares made a satisfactory showing with a number of Freestate issues recording good improvements. Copper shares were uncertain and other base metal shares trended lower.

AT VANCOUVER mining stocks were active with firmer prices during the forenoon. Mid-West Copper moved 51,800 at 18. Sunshine Lardeau traded 2,500 at 16. Bethlehem Copper moved 2,300 at 95. Basco Oils sold 12,500 at 58.

ALD. McEWEN OBJECTS

Trades Licence Bylaw Revised

City council Monday gave third reading to a revised trade licence bylaw but Ald. Elmer McEwen said he would introduce amendments later in the year.

City comptroller Dennis Young said the revision made only two changes in fees—certain professional categories such as architects will pay $100 instead of $50 and window cleaners and chimney sweeps will pay $5 for each person in their employee on top of the present basic $10 fee.

Chief purpose of the bylaw was to streamline the mechanics of administration and to clear up ambiguities in legal wording, he said.

The bylaw would not affect revenue to the city. Firms pay the trade licences or business tax, whichever is the highest. In the majority of cases, the business tax formula is used because it provides the higher revenue.

Ald. McEwen, expressing opposition to the bylaw because it did not lower trade licence imposts as promised when the business tax was introduced two years ago, refused to consent to suspension of clause-by-clause consideration of the bylaw.

(Under council procedure one alderman can force a full dress review of any bylaw.)

Mayor Percy Scurrah said a clause-by-clause reading would take about two hours.

WITHDRAWS DEMAND

Ald. Arthur Dowell said he was "surprised and disappointed" with Ald McEwen's action because he was a member of the committee that thoroughly considered the revision at a five-hour meeting. He said Ald. McEwen's action was a "slight" on the other committee members.

Ald. McEwen finally withdrew his demand for clause-by-clause study but said he was "prepared to introduce amendments at a later time."

Ald. D. J. Proudfoot, who failed to gain support in an attempt to have the bylaw tabled, said he would do his utmost to cut taxes this year.

He added that the bylaw illustrated the city's need for revision and consolidation of all its bylaws and its own charter.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Moderately active flax trade featured an otherwise dull day at the Grain Exchange Tuesday.

Most of the flax was traded in the initial stages of business with export and international accounts showing most interest. Offerings were fair but all were absorbed during the day. Prices advanced slightly. A few export inquiries were reported.

Oats and barley were quiet and prices were steady. Domestic shipping purchases were recorded and there were reports of overnight barley sales to the United Kingdom.

The rye market was irregular and generally of a commission house nature. Business followed trends set by United States markets.

Export loadings of Canadian wheat included: Japan 710,000 bushels; West Germany 650,000; the United Kingdom 400,000, and Ireland 110,000.

Lakehead prices for IWA and domestic wheat were all unchanged from Monday. Class two wheat was also unchanged with the exception of number 5 Northern which was down two cents.

Victoria Hottest Spot After Winter Wallop

Storm Drives Back Arctic Air Mass

Victoria's "one-day winter" ended overnight, leaving behind a mess of slushy streets and brimming gutters.

An overnight low of 31 degrees, just one degree of frost, made Victoria the warmest spot in Canada.

The city was saved from a predicted additional six inches of snow to go with the five inches which fell Sunday night and Monday morning by the unexpected action of a weather disturbance over the Pacific.

The storm fooled the forecasters by providing a stronger surge from the west than expected, driving back the Arctic air to the interior.

Brief but heavy rain showers, which helped wash away the slush, would have been snow if the weather disturbance had followed its predicted course.

During the next 24 hours, the temperature will be influenced by air travelling from the Arctic, through the Gulf of Alaska, out into the Pacific, then across Vancouver Island. Strength of the Arctic air mass will be diluted by its long journey over water, meaning temperatures from just above freezing tonight to 40 Wednesday.

Skies will be cloudy with intervals of clearing, plus rain showers occasionally mixed with snow.

WET FEET

After Monday's snow-and-traffic chocked streets, even the pulpy mass of dirty slush was welcomed by motorists today, although pedestrians had their troubles picking their way through clogged gutters.

One death Monday was directly attributed to the storm.

George D. Carroll, 2520 Vancouver, collapsed and died after shovelling snow outside his home at 1.35 p.m.

He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, but was dead on arrival.

Hospitals reported emergency wards only "fairly busy" treating sprains and minor injuries caused by falls on slippery streets.

Several youngsters were treated for bruises and abrasions sustained while skating.

After school Monday, the small fry had a field day with snowball fights, sleighing and skating, but the winter sports were short lived.

B.C. Electric bus schedules are back to normal today. All main streets and most side streets are in good shape, with works crews removing snow and clearing drains.

NEAR-NORMAL

If the weather holds, up-Island car travel will be near normal.

Plowing of snow and slush off roads was still underway late this morning in most areas.

But temperature hikes and light showers had done as much to ease motoring conditions as highways department work of plowing and sanding.

Latest government road report said the Malahat was clear; driving near Duncan was "fair" with advice to "drive cautiously" due to still slippery conditions; Nanaimo district roads were described as "fair" with plowing still underway.

Sanding is still in progress in the Parksville-Alberni area.

Nanaimo temperature was 34 degrees, and cloudy; Comox was 36 and sunny, while the only snow was reported at the Island's north end—a light snow—in a temperature of 33 degrees.

Temperatures on the Island's west coast were even warmer, about 40 degrees generally.

EMERGENCY OVER

Vancouver, also plagued with snow-induced traffic problems Monday, called off a "snow emergency" order when the weather changed for the better.

Monday afternoon, police planned to ban all parking in Vancouver's downtown area, but the ban was cancelled.

By 7 a.m. the temperature was 37 degrees, with a forecast high for the day of 42.

LIEUT.-COL. ALLAN

Princess Pats' Boss Here

Lieut.-Col. James C. Allan, DSO, MBE, 45, new commanding officer of the First Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, arrived in Victoria Monday and officially will take over his new duties at a Work Point ceremonial parade at 2 p.m., Jan. 15.

He will succeed Lieut.-Col. Thomas de Faye, who has been battalion commanding officer since 1955. Col. de Faye will leave Victoria Jan. 26 for a six-month course with the U.S. army in Norfolk, Virginia, before taking over as Canadian army liaison officer at Continental Army Command, near Norfolk.

Col. Allan, born in MacLeod, Alta., joined the army in September, 1939, and served in England and in the Italian campaign where he was wounded in action. From 1945 to 1950 he held administrative posts and attended courses in the United States and England. During the winter of 1951-52 he was second in command of the Patricias. Since 1956, he has been liaison officer of the assistant chief of staff, U.S. Army, Washington, D.C.

SWEDISH SHIP DELAYED BY CALIFORNIA STORMS

Arrival at Esquimalt of the Swedish minelayer-training ship HSWMS Alvsnabben likely will be delayed by storms hitting the California coast.

The ship is at San Francisco today, and port authorities have refused to grant clearance to any ship while 100-mile-an-hour winds continue to rage along the coast.

Alvsnabben had been scheduled to arrive here at 10 a.m. Thursday for a three-day visit.

NEW HIGH OF 600,000 HP

16% Power Hike For Commission

B.C. Power Commission will increase its generating capacity by 16 per cent early this year to a new high of 600,000 horsepower.

A forecast of activities for 1959 highlights the Ash River hydro electric development and the Georgia gas turbine plant, near Chemainus, both in the final stages of work.

Acting general manager R. C. McMordie said the boost in generation from 518,000 horsepower will be sufficient to care for the 25 per cent consumption increase in the next 12 months.

Mr. McMordie said future planning on power sources will hinge on meetings in March of the International Joint Commission, when engineering reports on the Columbia are expected. The commission has also claimed power sites on the Clearwater system but action is deferred pending settlement of Columbia negotiations.

The commission expects to extend power this year to Thetis and Kuper Islands and other islands are being surveyed. This is the final stage in a Gulf Islands electrification program started 10 years ago.

Assessment Appeal Studied by Saanich

Is Saanich paying more than its share of taxes towards the Greater Victoria education system.

The provincial court of revision may be asked to inquire into this issue if Saanich Council decides to appeal its municipay assessment roll.

Council is considering a recommendation from Comptroller-Treasurer John Tribe that it launch an appeal against present assessments of residential homes in Saanich.

The notice-of-appeal must be filed by Jan. 17.

HIGHER THAN CITY

Mr. Tribe informed council investigations carried out during the past year indicated that dwellings in Saanich are being assessed higher than similar homes in Victoria and Oak Bay.

This had resulted, he said, in Saanich paying higher taxes towards school costs than Victoria.

SAANICH

Reeve George Chatterton said today council feels assessments are a "little high" for residential property.

"We don't say the assessments are not correct," he explained. "But our assessments seem to be higher than those of the city. If this is so then our assessments should be reduced or the city's raised to our level."

SORE POINT

The steadily rising assessments have been a sore point with Saanich for some time.

Coun. Leslie Passmore a year ago complained that Saanich was paying more towards school costs than the city.

The councillor made a house-to-house survey of homes assessed in the two municipalities. He reported that dwellings of similar age and value were assessed higher in Saanich.

Council protested to the provincial government and requested an interview with K. E. B. Wildman, assessment commissioner, with a view to reviewing assessments.

But the meeting never came off. Council was informed that Mr. Wildman would be unable to meet council due to illness.

Tougher City Stand Seen In Intermunicipal Affairs

Victoria probably will take a tougher stand at intermunicipal meetings this year as a result of a substitution in its representation Monday.

City council, at its inaugural meeting, confirmed the appointment of Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow to the committee replacing Ald. A. I. Curtis.

Both are hard bargainers but Ald. Edgelow is more vocal in his insistence that the city has borne far more than its fair share of Greater Victoria projects in the past. He has frequently criticized council for being too soft in dealing with the other municipalities.

SALK SHOTS BEAT POLIO; ONLY 13 CASES IN B.C.

The continuing program of Salk anti-polio vaccination reduced the number of polio cases in B.C. to 13 last year, compared to 225 in 1955 when the innoculation program began.

More than 500,000 persons, children under 16 and expectant mothers, have received a total of 2,000 gallons of vaccine. Booster shots are still being given and new pupils are being treated when parents approve.

The B.C. health department has extended the program each year. Local organizations have conducted similar campaigns for adults, for a small fee.

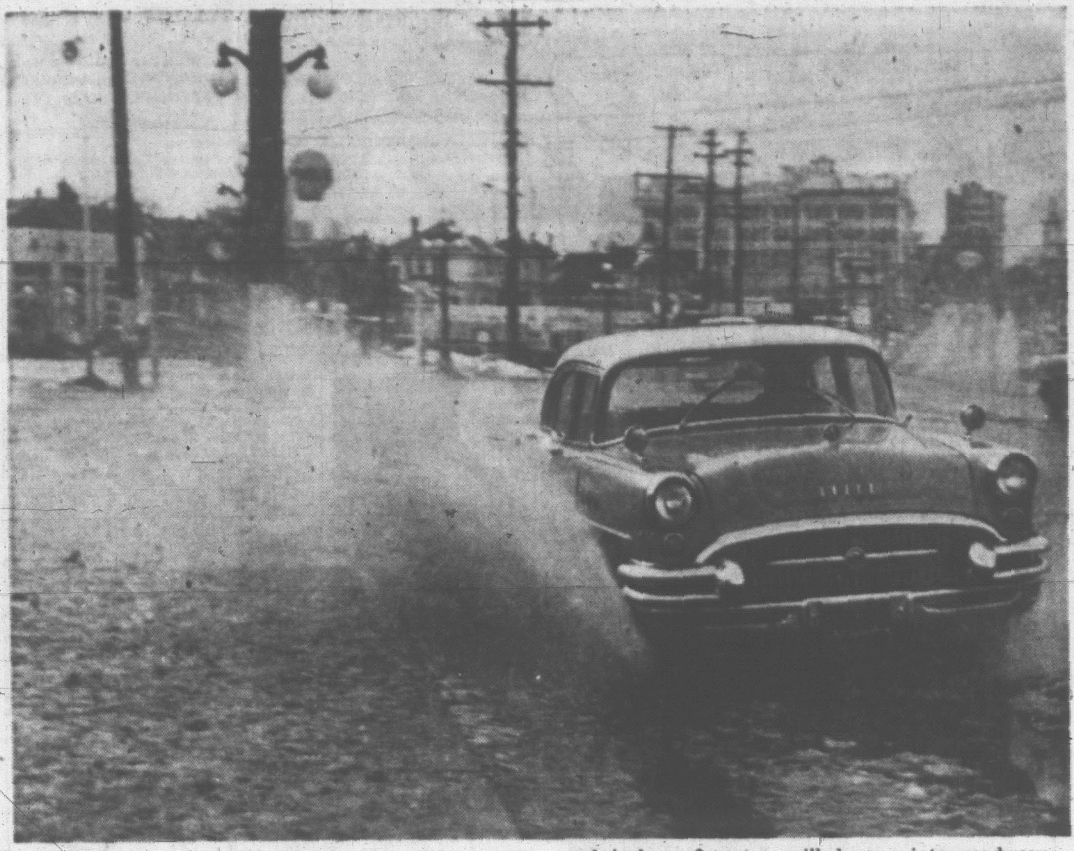
'Good Music' Radio Station May Get Licence This Month

Application of the Saanich Broadcasting Co. to erect a "good music" station here will be considered at public hearings January 28-31 by the Board of Broadcast Governors in Ottawa.

All three principals of the firm will be attending. They are the president, Ellison Queale; vice president, Jack Allison, and manager-secretary, Roy Parrett.

The company first made application for the station in 1957, and there were two subsequent delays in hearings.

Planned is a $40,000 initial installation on a site already under lease at Swan Lake.



NAVIGABLE WATERS ACT could well have replaced traffic bylaws in many parts of city this morning as motorists heading for work splashed through piles of slush, and gutters running with several inches of water spilled over into roadways. Pedestrians had it tougher than motorists, having to pick way through wet, and occasionally dodge showers from passing cars.—(Times photo)

British Columbia's premiers are a tough-looking family, in the opinion of portrait photographer Arthur J. Angier from Montreal.

On a tour of the Legislative Buildings, little Mr. Angier spent some time studying the portraits of successive premiers hanging in the rotunda.

"They look pretty tough," he said. "From my knowledge of faces, I would say the late Premier Pattullo and Premier Bennett would be similar types. Once set on a course they would bulldoze their way through almost any opposition."

Mr. Angier agreed that the late John Hart had a "gentle expression," but didn't think this gentleness would survive political hassle . . .

VICTORIA MAY BID FOR PAN-AM GAMES

City Invited To 'Tender'

Mayor Percy Scurrah today said he will make a bid to have one of the world's major athletic events staged in Victoria.

"I'm going to write them and ask for their detailed requirements," he said after receiving an invitation to "tender" for selection of Victoria as the site of the 1963 Pan-American Games to be staged in Canada.

All cities in Canada are being given an opportunity to vie for the honor. Invitations have been sent out by the Pan-American Games for Canada, a committee of the Olympic Games Association. Deadline for enquiries is Feb. 15.

The games will bring more than 2,000 athletes and coaches from all parts of North and South America for a 10-day meet in the city chosen as a site.

The winning city would become the sports capital of the world during the games, attracting an international gathering of spectators.

The impact of selection as a site would be as great as Vancouver's gain in being chosen as the site of the 1954 British Empire Games which brought it world-wide fame.

The Pan-American Games this year are being held in Chicago Aug. 27 to Sept. 7.

Mayor Scurrah said he will write immediately for specifications of the association's requirements and will consult with city officials and amateur sports officials to determine whether Victoria should present a brief outlining its advantages as a site.

Among the events held during the games are: track and field, gymnastics, swimming, polo, yachting, shooting, archery, riding, boxing, wrestling, fencing, baseball, soccer, basketball.

Berlin Threat 'Softened' By Mikoyan

(From Times News Services)

WASHINGTON — High officials said today that Soviet deputy premier Anastas I. Mikoyan in his talks here appears to be backing down on Russia's Berlin demands.

Mikoyan, who met Monday with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and dined with congressional and business leaders, was reported to have assured officials that Russia was willing to promise continued Allied access to the Communist-encircled city when the Russians turn over control of their sector and the supply lines to the East German Communists June 1.

Mikoyan was understood to have told high-level state department, business and congressional leaders Monday night:

1. Russia is determined to turn over administration of East Berlin to the East German Communist regime, regardless of U.S.-British-French denunciation of this plan.

2. Russia is not trying to throw the Allies out of West Berlin, even though Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, in his Nov. 27 note, suggested withdrawal of all Allied troops from the city.

NO WESTERN PLAN

3. Russia feels the time has come, 13 years after the end of the war, to give Berlin a new status.

4. The United States, Britain and France, in replying last week to Khrushchev's note, were remiss in not coming up with some counterproposal which might have provided the basis for negotiation.

5. The Soviet decision to hand East Berlin over to East Germany by May in no way implies a peace-or-war ultimatum; continued free access to Berlin, 110 miles inside East Germany, could be arranged, and a role may be found for the United Nations to play in guaranteeing this.

The 63-year-old Mikoyan, sec-

Istanbul Explosion Kills 30

ISTANBUL (AP) — Thirty persons were feared killed and 100 severely injured in a thunderous explosion this morning that shattered two crowded four-storey office buildings in old central Istanbul.

Three of the dead were passengers in a passing bus crushed by debris.

Another four died as they sat in a coffee shop across the narrow street from the blast.

Among the victims were passengers in a bus lumbering past the four-storey buildings when the blast went off. The rear half of the vehicle was crushed by falling debris.

Among the tenants in the buildings were the newspapers Istanbul Ekspres and Yeni Gazete.

One of the building owners said the explosion appeared to come from a warehouse in the rear in which chemicals and other inflammable goods were stored.

One of the two buildings was completely crumbled. The other, housing the newspapers, looked as if its back end had been sliced away.

The explosion occurred at the height of mid-morning traffic. Police cordoned off the area and diverted all traffic. Ninety minutes later victims still were being dug from the debris.

Winter Keeps Chill Grip On Canada

(From Times News Services)

Winter retained a chilling grip on Canada today. In some areas snow joined with bitter cold in the continuing onslaught.

The Yukon—where Dawson hit 59 degrees below zero and Snag 57 below — headed a parade of sub-zero temperatures which reached into every province except Newfoundland.

Fresh snow was in prospect today for northern Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, parts of Ontario and Quebec and the Maritimes.

NEW YORK—Winter's most severe cold wave numbed the eastern half of the United States today but some relief from the icy blasts appeared on the way from the Rockies to the mid-continent.

At the same time, stormy weather which pounded sections in the west diminished. Strong winds, rain and snow Monday swept through the Pacific states southward through the intermountain region to southern California.

The cold was blamed for at least 44 deaths in 14 states.

LONDON—Rain and milder weather thawed out the southern half of ice-bound Britain during the night, turning frozen snow on main roads into slush and causing some flooding.

Fog followed the end of the freeze-up along the south coast.

New Freight Hike Bid Launched by Railways

OTTAWA (CP) — The railways today moved to obtain another freight rate increase of an unspecified amount.

The last increase—17 per cent—went into effect Dec. 1 after a fight before the federal cabinet which refused an appeal against the increase entered by eight provinces. That boost was designed to cover the cost of a wage settlement with railway employees.

Today the railways served notice on the Board of Transport Commissioners that they would apply Jan. 12 for a date for hearings on their new application. The application was contained originally in one filed during September. At that time the railways asked for an increase to cover wage costs and also a later one of an indeterminate amount to cover general operating costs.

It is this second part which the railways now seek to have heard by the board.

They told the board today they will also ask it on Jan. 12 to set a date for them to advise the board the amounts of the proposed new increase.

The new application said it is estimated that the 1958 net rail income of the "yardstick" CPR will show a deficiency of more than $17,000,000 below the $51,000,000 permitted the company by the transport board. The estimate for 1959 was for a deficiency of more than $10,000,000.

The last rate increase of 17 per cent, amounting to some $60,000,000 a year, was upheld by the cabinet Nov. 26, thus averting a threatened Dec. 1 general rail strike.

FLOOD OF OFFERS FOR STATUE

Brigitte for His Birthday? She's In Right Suit Anyway

LONDON (Reuters)—Offers are pouring in from all over Britain for a life-size, near-nude plastic statue of Brigitte Bardot that a London movie theatre wants to sell.

Here are some of the people who want the statue of the French actress wearing only the lower part of a bikini:

A woman would like it as a 21st birthday present for her son;

The national guard sergeants' mess at Birmingham, who claim they can give it a "good home";

A Worcestershire woman who hopes to use it as a scarecrow;

Miss Marianne Hawkins of Birmingham who wants to present it to her fiance who "must be Brigitte's most ardent admirer";

A penniless artist near London who says his town is narrow-minded and he finds it "difficult to get nude models."

Everyone apparently wants the statute — except Brigitte herself. She has refused it because "it cheapens me."

U.S. Trade Talks Go 'Very Nicely'

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian and American cabinet ministers today completed another four hours of private talks and U.S. Treasury Secretary Robert Anderson said at the noon adjournment: "Things are moving very nicely."

The eight cabinet ministers—five from Canada and three from the U.S.—adjourned for a luncheon at the suburban Rockcliffe home of U.S. Ambassador Richard Wigglesworth.

Finance Minister Fleming, heading the economic talks, said that all points in a long agenda had been completed at the morning session, except for one item which would be discussed in the afternoon. A communique was to be issued late today.

As the first three-hour round of talks ended Monday night at midnight, Mr. Fleming emerged with a smile and told reporters progress was made, amicably, on both sides.

The ministers and some 24 advisers were participating in the fourth session of the joint Canada-U.S. committee on trade and economic affairs set up in 1953.

Mr. Fleming said initial discussions were of a general nature, dealing with the North American and world economic outlook. Conclusions reached were "heartening."

There have been reports that Canada expressed a wish that the U.S. would use its influence to heal the trade split between France and Britain, but Mr. Fleming maintained that discussions did not go specifically that far. Because of the private nature of dis-

LONDON (AP) — The English Electric Company announced today that its Lightning all-weather jet fighter has flown at 1,280 miles an hour with full war load on a routine test flight. Rocket Bingo on First Try As Soviet Shot Nears Orbit

(Times News Services)

MOSCOW—A top Soviet scientist said today the Russians successfully fired their moon rocket the first time they tried.

Prof. Anatoly Blagonravov, head of the technical sciences department of the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences, said the shot launched Friday was the first of its kind ever tried in Russia.

The Soviet cosmic rocket has practically entered orbit today as the solar system's first artificial planet.

The 1½-ton projectile is more than 500,000 miles from the earth and streaking on to start its circling of the sun, Vice-President Alexander Topchiev of the Soviet Academy of Sciences told reporters.

Topchiev said the rocket at the time of his 4 p.m. (5 a.m. PST) press conference was 497,097 miles from the earth and 310,686 miles beyond the moon, which it passed Sunday at a speed of more than 5,000 miles an hour.

Topchiev called the creation and launching of the rocket "a triumph of human genius which for the first time has succeeded in overcoming the force of terrestrial gravitation."

Blagonravov said the scientific results obtained from the experiment will be made available to international science as soon as they have been analyzed.

"There isn't a spot in the universe today which could not be reached by rocket," he said.

"This would of course require time," he said, "But the wait will not be long now."

Ike Sets Spending

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower Monday told Congressional leaders that the 1960 defence budget will call for spending $40,900,000,000.

Railroad Finances Review Urged by Ex-Commissioner

OTTAWA (CP) — Clarence D. Shepard, just retired as chief of the board of transport commissioners, suggests the government must take a new look at railroad finances.

Specifically, western Shepard has committed Prairie heresy by saying there should be an assessment of how the railways make out on the low "Crowsnest Pass" freight rates on grain in the west, a source of railway grumbling for many years.

Free to talk out as he heads for a private business job reputed to pay about $75,000 a year, the 44-year-old Mr. Shepard also indicated in an interview that he doesn't think much of the cabinet's reported proposal of a federal subsidy to ease freight rate discrimination.

Nor does he put much stock in claims by the railways that they are unduly hampered by federal regulation in meeting competition from other carriers not as closely controlled by rate-setting boards.

OIL COMPANY POST

Mr. Shepard, who was persuaded by Liberal prime minister St. Laurent to leave a lucrative Winnipeg law practice to take on the $18,500-a-year board post in early 1957, quit at the year end to become chief counsel for British American Oil Company in Toronto.

He has been succeeded by Rod Kerr, 56, Cape Breton-born former general counsel of the board, named assistant chief commissioner last fall.

Asked in a farewell interview about the Crowsnest rates on grain, a subject of western preoccupation for a half century, Mr. Shepard said:

"The time has come to assess whether they are at a proper level.

"This is not to say that they should be taken away from the control of Parliament or increased. But the railways should be adequately compensated for hauling the grain."

The Crowsnest rate investigations should be carried out by a body—presumably a royal commission — which the government proposes to set up to investigate railway matters.

A railway claim is that the Crowsnest rates are not remunerative and should be turned loose under control of the board of transport commissioners rather than being held at pre-1900 levels by a 1925 parliamentary statute. Western interests fight this suggestion vigorously.

Of the cabinet's rumored plan to ease regional freight rate "discrimination" by giving subsidies to the eastern and western provinces, Mr. Shepard's comment was:

"I've yet to see a subsidy the payment of which has resulted in a long-term solution to any problem."

DAG'S REFUGEE TOUR CUT BY DEMONSTRATION

AMMAN, Jordan (Reuters) — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold of the United Nations Sunday cut short a tour of refugee camps after a peaceful demonstration by 2,000 Palestine Arab refugees.

Now on a Middle East and West African tour, he was visiting one of the camps in the Biblical town of Jericho, 30 miles west of here, when the demonstration was staged.

"We want to return to our beloved country—we shall march to Palestine," many of the demonstrators shouted.

FOR POST OF MAYORESS

Mayor Would Pick His Wife; Who Else?

Mayor Percy Scurrah Monday laughingly said he would nominate his wife for the position of mayoress if he ever has to recommend the appointment.

Ald. M. H. Mooney chuckled: "I can see quite easily why you said that, seeing that Mrs. Scurrah is here."

(Mrs. Scurrah was one of three persons who turned out for city council's 1959 inaugural meeting.)

The repartee arose when council referred a suggestion from Charles J. Kidd, 2423 Beach Drive, to finance committee.

Mr. Kidd said in Great Britain a woman automatically was appointed mayoress by a council on recommendation of the new mayor.

The mayor usually recommended his wife, Mr. Kidd added — prompting Mayor Percy Scurrah's quip.

The proposed library agreement will be discussed by intermunicipal committee at its next meeting aldermen were told after a letter from the library board seeking information on the status of the agreement—which has been going through municipal channels for four years—was read.

A certificate of merit sent to Victoria by the B.C. Centennial Committee was accepted and will be framed and hung in City Hall.

Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson curtly informed self-conscious colleagues that residents and staff of Mountain View Home were delighted when the mayor and she visited the old men's home during its Christmas dinner.

Prior to the event she had appealed to all aldermen to attend the dinner instead of leaving it to the mayor and herself.

ond in Kremlin power only to Khrushchev, laid these cards on the table in replying to questions at a dinner for him by Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America.

PICKETS SCREAM

Hovering outside were about 50 anti-Communist pickets, refugees from Iron Curtain countries. Sparked by former freedom fighters in Hungary's abortive 1956 revolt against Communism, they brandished placards, shook fists and screamed in cadence: "Mik-o-yan the mur-der-er!"

Mikoyan and his party paid no attention to the pickets. Neither did the 48 other guests.

Monday Mikoyan also conferred for 95 minutes with State Secretary Dulles at the state department, primarily about Berlin.

Johnston released quotations from Mikoyan's formal address to the diners. Mikoyan was quoted as saying:

"We think there should be more contacts at all levels—from the lowest to the highest. And in order not to spend years in trying to work out an agenda, it is best to meet without one. I think that is where we are heading . . ."

COMING TO OTTAWA?

Meanwhile in Ottawa both the external affairs department and the Soviet Embassy said today they could shed no light on reports that Mikoyan may make a "tourist" visit to Canada following his current United States tour.

She'd Share Baby With Kidnapper

NEW YORK (AP) — The mother of a kidnapped infant girl pleaded for the safe return of the baby today and offered to share the child with the abductor.

The kidnapper is believed to be a frustrated mother.

"If she loves the baby that much and would return her to us I would even be willing to let her visit the baby periodically," said Mrs. Frances Chionchio, 26, from her hospital bed.

"I would be willing to appeal to the kidnapper on a woman-to-woman basis. If she would call the hospital, I would speak to her on the telephone."

Police still held hope the baby, stolen from a hospital nursery Friday night, might still be alive.

Some of the baby's garments were found Saturday in a vacant store in Brooklyn.

There also were reports that Canada sought American views on the pursuit of world trade agreements in which both Russia and Communist China could participate, but here again there was no official indication of how far discussions went or what conclusions had been reached.

Today's sessions of the talks were to deal with American oil curbs and Canada's hopes to have them removed; American criticism of Canada's anti-dumping laws and Canadian criticism of the American anti-trust suit against American electronics manufacturers operating a patents pool in Canada.

Driver Received Blow on Head; Charge Dismissed

A charge of impaired driving against S. R. Halton, Cadboro Court, was dismissed by Magistrate Henry Hall in police court this morning.

The charge arose out of an accident Dec. 4 when Mr. Halton's car struck a lamp standard on Quadra Street.

Mr. Halton suffered a severe blow on the head in the mishap.

In dismissing the charge, the magistrate said that while the police and Dr. E. L. McNiven had given evidence of drinking, two doctors called by the defence, Dr. Alan F. McGill and Dr. D. E. Alcorn, had testified that the accused suffered from concussion and a minor skull fracture which would have created symptoms similar to those of drunkenness. This raised a question of doubt.

Alan Bigelow appeared for the defence.

$900,000 Sawmill at Nanaimo To Start Production in March

NANAIMO — Rajindi Mayo, president of the Mayo Lumber Company, said here Monday a $900,000 sawmill will go into production in Nanaimo in mid-March.

The sawmill may become the centre of a major industry for this Vancouver Island centre.

Mr. Mayo said construction would start about Jan. 12 and the sawmill will be in operation two months later.

He said the mill, however, was just the first stage of a planned new Mayo operation, eventually to become an integrated forest products plant, with the main product being hardboard.

The mill will occupy a 12-acre site south of here.

NANAIMO—A 12-man delegation direct from Nanaimo to Communist China would be one way to get action from Ottawa on the matter of unemployment, Alistair MacLeod suggested to Nanaimo area labor union delegates.

Mr. MacLeod called for what he termed a "new approach" to the problem of unemployment by organizing a union of the unemployed.

"The work is there," the labor spokesman said, "the problem is how to get it going.

"Why bother with any more briefs and resolutions? Why not organize the unemployed, short-circuit Ottawa and send a 12-man delegation direct from Nanaimo to China to see if it would be possible to turn up orders from China."

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.
